Rosendale Water Being Tested

By SHANE CROSBY

ROSENDALE — Residents of this normally quiet village were told today to continue to boil their drinking and cooking water for another 24 hours following possible contamination of the supply after one of the worse fires on local record engulfed a Main Street three-story building owned by Mayor Joseph Reid.

The Ulster County Board of Health made the plea to residents for the second day in a row as it continues to sample the village water supply. Harry Edinger of the Health Department said "original samples (taken during yesterday's fire) were bad." He said heavy demands on the system by fire fighters taxed the village system.

Tests are continuing by the department, he said.

Firemen were using heavy pressure hoses throughout the night. The demand for water to fight the blaze caused a taxing of the chlorinator unit beyond its designed limits.

Edinger said the unit had been reset by 3 p. m. yesterday but as a precaution, water samples would continue to be made through Thursday.

Pressure on some hose lines, including a high pressure line used by the aerial truck was extreme. The pressure varied at times as firemen changed hoses with the shifting winds. Edinger said there were a number of times when the system had a vacuum effect on the pump causing a back flow.

The business-day life of the village was shattered about 9:50 a. m. when fire broke out in Reid's Village Inn, owned by the mayor.

A cleaning man in the first floor tavern smelled smoke and ran into the firehouse across the street to summon help, bringing more than 40 men from five companies, including a 65-foot aerial ladder from the Ulster Hose Company No. 5.

Heavy and constantly shifting winds gave firemen endless problems and for a time threatened adjoining buildings on the crowded street. A next door barber shop and a succession of wooden buildings sat in the path of flames at the height of the blaze.

Active Hose Company No. 1, under Chief Albert Morelli, led the firemen in the battle that lasted through the night. By sunset, flames continued to shoot up through the building's basement, where the fire is said to have started.

High Falls, Bloomington, Tillson and Binnewater units assisted Rosendale's company.

Reid no longer operated the tavern on the first floor, having leased it to Raymond Ritter. Ritter was on his first Florida vacation since taking over the operation two years ago. His father Hank, was in charge for the time being.

No one was injured. The mayor and his wife were the only persons living in the building at the time. Mayor Reid said he was able to save "absolutely nothing." One estimate put damage at $50,000.

The cause is still under investigation, as it was well past evening before firemen could enter the burned out remains. All that stands above ground is a rear fire escape.

Enterprise Toll: 25 Die, Seek 17

PEARL HARBOR (UPI)—Machinist's Mate Girard Trahn stared with disbelief into a 20-foot deep hole in the fire-and explosion-torn flight deck of the nuclear carrier USS Enterprise.

"Thank God," he said. "They moved me out of that compartment last week."

Soot and grime covering his clothes from hours of firefighting, the 23-year-old sailor from Central Falls, R.I., was among dozens of crewmen who narrowly escaped death or serious injury Tuesday when explosions and fire swept the Big E, the world's largest warship.

The Navy said today 25 men were killed, 17 were missing and 85 injured. Identities were withheld while families were being notified.

Th 90,000-ton Enterprise returned to Pearl Harbor showing the scars of the tragedy which one shipyard worker said put it in the worst condition he had seen any ship since World War II.

The inferno ignited at the onset of a practice bombing mission at sea 75 miles southwest of here. Fifteen planes were destroyed.

Preparing for Vietnam

The ship and her crew of 5,400 men were preparing for their fourth tour of duty off Vietnam.

Training flights were in progress with 14 planes already launched when the explosions and flames swept across 75 yards of the rear end of the flight deck shortly after 8 a.m.

The planes were loaded with rockets, bombs and 20-millimeter ammunition to be used in a mock attack on the small island of Kahoolawe, a frequent bombing target used by Navy carrier planes before assignment to Vietnam.

The blasts and blaze ripped three large holes from the flight deck to compartments three levels below, and touched off a rescue mission involving dozens of emergency helicopters and more than 1,000 persons from Honolulu.

"Men jumped or were blown overboard by the explosions," said a Navy spokesman. Some crewmen were trapped in compartments just below the flight deck, he said.

He said the ship's eight nuclear reactors deep in the hull "were not invloved."

While the fire fighters battled the flame, military helicopters from Hawaii ferried doctors, nurses and blood to the carrier, returning with the most seriously injured crewmen to Tripler Army Hospital, near Honolulu.

Ships Search

Three ships which accompanied the Enterprise on the training mission—the nuclear frigate USS Bainbridge, the guided missile destroyer USS Stoddert and the pocket destroyer USS Rogers, searched the 76-degree water for missing crewmen. Helicopters also plucked several men from the sea.

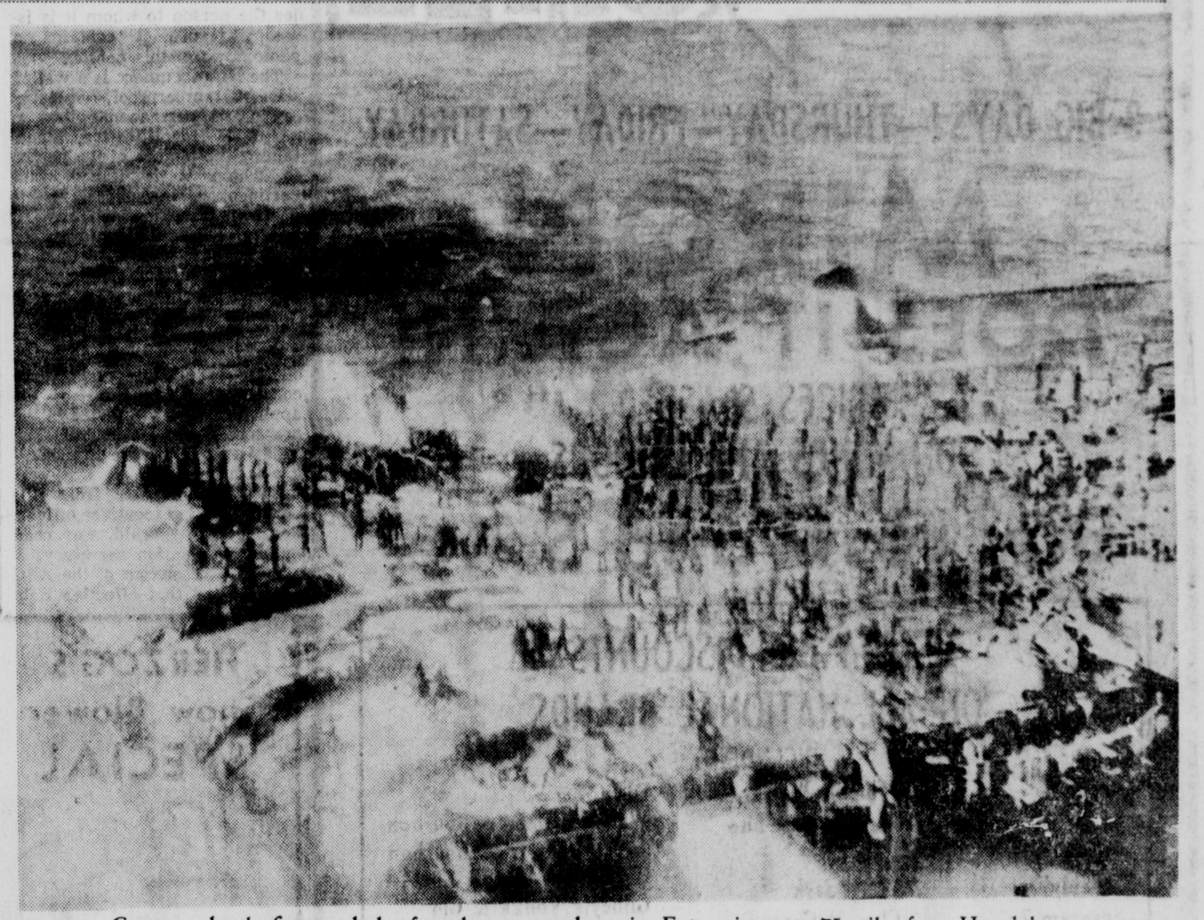

The search continued throughout the night and into today.

The fire was controlled while the carrier made her way back to port, arriving at 4:30 p.m. She berthed near the still visible hulks of the battleships USS Arizona and USS Utah, which were sunk during the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

The twisted metal chunks of airplanes were strewn about the deck, cables dangled loosely into gaping holes, pipes melted by intense heat curled into grotesque shapes, steel plates were buckled and the rear end of the flight deck was charred black.

At Tripler, more than 1,000 persons responded to a public appeal for blood donations and in downtown Honolulu several hundred other volunteers showed up at Queens Medical Center.

Sixty-four men were treated at Tripler, about 10 were flown by Air Force jet to the Army's Brooks Burn Center at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and others were treated and released at the 100-bed hospital aboard the carrier.

LBJ's Final Budget Record $195 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson today proposed a record $195.3 billion budget and asserted that every dollar was needed to meet America's "minimum requirements" in the quest for peace, justice and prosperity.

In the final budget message of his five year presidency, he threw down what amounted to a challenge to his Republican successor Richard M. Nixon and to the Democratic-controlled Congress to find any place to economize on his spending proposals without jeopardizing national security or the economy.

Johnson's budget for the 1970 fiscal year beginning next July 1 forecast a $3.4 billion surplus. But achievement of the surplus, which would ease the credit pinch and relieve inflationary pressures, was conditioned on congress approving $11.9 billion in proposed taxes. Without them there would be an $8.6 billion deficits.

His chief tax proposal—tentatively supported by Nixon—called for a one-year, $9 billion extension of the 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporation income taxes which congress enacted last year. The special tax is now scheduled to expire June 30.

Nixon said from his vacation retreat at Key Biscayne, Fla., that he would go along with the proposed extension, for the present at least, reserving the right to review the question after he moves into the White House next Monday. He reiterated what he said often during the election campaign—that the tax should be removed as soon as a reduction in Vietnam war costs or an easing of inflationary pressures will permit.

President Johnson, in his farewell appearance before Congress asked that body to extend its hand of understanding to President-elect Nixon. Story Page 38.

Johnson anticipated this position by urging Congress to provide Nixon with authority to reduce or remove the tax whenever he saw fit.

Many of the proposals in Johnson's budget had been made public previously in the state of the Union message which he delivered Tuesday night before a joint session of Congress.

A large part of the valedictory budget was taken up with a review of what Johnson called "the impressive record of achievements" during his administration.

Challenging Nixon to "press ahead for freedom and justice at home and abroad," the retiring Chief Executive said:

"In my first budget message five years ago, I stated: 'a government that is strong, a government that is solvent, a government that is compassionate is the kind of government that endures.'

"With this budget, I leave that kind of government to my successor."

To round out his $11.9 billion tax package, Johnson called for:

—An increase of a penny, to 7 cents, in the cost of a stamp to mail a first class letter. The rate went up to 6 cents just a year and eight days ago. Since most first class mail now goes by plane anyway, the airmail category would be abolished.

—Continuation of the present 7 per cent excise tax on new car purchases and the 10 per cent excise tax on telephone calls for another year, through 1970.

—A $1.7 billion hike in payroll taxes to finance a 13 per cent increase in monthly benefits.

Under the Social Security proposals, to take effect next Jan. 1, the payroll tax would rise from 4.8 to 5.2 per cent on both employers and employes, and the amount of wages subject to tax would increase from $7,800 to $9,000 a year. Thus, for persons earning $9,000 or over would rise from the $374 this year to $468 next year.

Johnson said the budget was designed to meet "minimum requirements to full urgent needs at home and abroad."

Highland Traffic Victim Kidney Transplant Donor

By JEAN F. DOLAN

HIGHLAND — A 24-year-old Highland mother, who was Ulster County's first traffic fatality of 1969, became the donor in a kidney transplant in New York City Tuesday.

Mrs. Janice J. Bernadette Muhlfeld was fatally injured in a two-car crash Saturday night on Old New Paltz Road in the Town of Lloyd. She was first taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie suffering from head injuries and lacerations. She was transferred to New York Medical Center Sunday where she died at 8:30 p. m. Monday, according to information received by troopers.

Mother of Two

The kidney transplant was revealed Tuesday but the name of the recipient was not disclosed.

Mrs. Muhlfeld, mother of two small children, was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Hans Muhlfeld Jr., 29, when the vehicle was in a head-on collision with a car driven by Earl Dillon, 43, of Milton.

Troopers cited Dillon for driving while intoxicated.

Muhlfeld, who suffered lacerations, was discharged from Vassar Hospital yesterday afternoon.

The other driver, who was admitted with multiple lacerations, is still a patient at the Poughkeepsie hospital where he was listed in satisfactory condition this morning.

Active in Crafts Group

Mrs. Muhlfeld, a native of Tacoma, Wash., had been very active in the Highland Arts and Crafts Bureau while an Ulster County resident.

Surviving in addition to her husband are their two children, Mary Elizabeth and Timothy Enian Muhlfeld; her parents, Darrell and Catherine Graham and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Jenifer Graham, all of Tacoma, Wash.

$700,000 Sales Tax Revenue for City

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Kingstons sales tax revenues for 1968 went past the $700,000 mark today with the receipt of a check for $118,000 from the state.

City Treasurer Stan J. Petro Jr. said that the check for $118,000 was a final payment for the period ending Nov. 30, 1968. Thus, the sales tax which was passed by the Common Council in December of 1967 and went into effect last March 1, has realized a total of $745,078 in total revenue in just nine months, March to November, inclusive.

This was more than double Raymond W. Garraghan's estimate in the 1968 budget of $325,000. Accordingly, Garraghan has estimated a total revenue from the sales tax (a two per cent levy) for 1969 of $982,000 but this may well be a conservative figure.

The nine-month average, with the biggest month, December, yet to report, is about $82,000 a month. Pro-rated on a yearly basis, this would bring expected revenues near the million dollar mark.

The sales tax, which has proved a bonanza for the city, is also under consideration by the county. Action is expected in February on a proposed three per cent county-wide tax with estimated yearly revenues of over $7,000,000.

Liquor Dealers to Institute Fool-Proof ID Card System

By WALTER S. CLARK

Determination to take every possible action to curb teenage drinking and to protect on-premises licensees in the area, was emphasized Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the Ulster County Restaurant and Liquor Dealers Association.

The association will institute a fool-proof ID card system which has been endorsed by area law enorcement agencies on or about Feb. 15 as a definite move to aid in curbing delinquency problems that might develop from teenagers under the legal age, drinking in the area.

The enthusiastic session was held at Gene Whalen's Restaurant on Wall Street. Whalen is the association president. Another highlight of the meeting was the reading of a resolution adopted recently by the Ulster County Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, which changes the hours of sales for on-premises licensees in the county as of Feb. 1.

William Oehler, association secretary, who was commended by the members for his excellent and faithful services in office the last year, explained the NIS identification card system to the group. He said that ID kits will be provided each member by the association within the next week or two.

Oehler said that the Ulster group is definitely interested in curbing teen-age drinking, and commented that the new ID system that will start about Feb. 15, appears to be a definite "fool-proof" system that will stop young people under the legal age from attempting to obtain intoxicating beverages in licensed places by using false or borrowed ID cards or through other means.

Applications for the National Identification Service, Inc., ID cards, will be available soon at all on-premises licensed establishments in the county. It has been indicated that other counties would take up the same system.

It was pointed out that the NIS document is guaranteed to be validated by permanently filed legally acceptable confirmation of the identity of the owner. The NIS card only identifies the person to whom it is issued, because it contains a photograph of this person.

The NIS document is a wallet-sized, tamperproof, plastic-laminated permanent proof of personal identification, containing the picture of the person to whom it is issued, plus pertinent data necessary to confirm identification. The ID card also lists other information such as next of kin, birth date of the applicant, religion and medical information.

Minors-persons under 21-may apply for an ID card. In these cases the parent or guardian of the applicant must give consent, and signature of the applicant must be applied in the presence of a notary public. The card is not a 'license to drink," it was noted.

A communication from the County ABC executive officer, Gerald P. Fitzgerald, was read by the association secretary. A copy of a resolution of the ABC Board noted that effective Feb. 1, the hours of sale for on-premises licensees in Ulster county, will change from 2 a.m. to 3 a.m. on weekdays. It was noted that this change will conform to those established previously by Greene, Delaware, Orange and Sullivan counties.

The resolution, a copy of which was received by this newspaper, orders that no alcoholic beverage shall be sold, offered for sale or given away upon any premises licensed to sell alcoholic beverages at retail for on premises consumption in this county during the following hours: on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday between 3 a.m. and 8 a. m., and on Sunday between 3 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Arthur H. Isabella, proprietor of Artie's Bar and Grill on North Front Street, was named a delegate with the association president, to the State Restaurant and Liquor Dealers Association Legislative Convention.

Isabella also was praised by the association for his efforts in bringing about the change in closing hours for licensed places in the county.

Everett Merz, of the Katsbaan Tavern, was renamed by Whalen as chairman of a committee to select meeting places during the year. The place of the February meeting will be announced next week.

Annual reports of officers and committees were submitted and approved. A buffet luncheon followed the business session.

Meeting Called on Airport Site

A public meeting designed to promote a county airport site in the southern tier of Ulster County had been scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 22 at 8 p.m. in Highland National Bank of New Paltz, Main Street, New Paltz.

The special meeting was called by Town of Gardiner Supervisor George Majestic

In his announcement of the meeting Supervisor Majestic invited members of the following organizations:

Ulster County Airport Commission, County Planning Board, Industrial Development Committee of the Legislature, members of Town Board and Planning Board of New Paltz, Esopus, Lloyd, Plattekill, Gardiner and Shawangunk, and officers of the local Chambers of Commerce representing the southern townships.

Majestic said that all interested citizens are invited.

The Democratic supervisor said he had attended the County Legislature session Jan. 6 when Harry C. Kaprelian, Airport Commission chairman presented the commission's interim report. Majestic said Kaprelian stressed that the report prepared by local engineers Brinnier and Larios was an interim report on the selection of an airport site and was not designed to indicate that a final selection of a site had been made.

Majestic said, "I feel that the proper location of an airport in Ulster County is vital to the future of the county. Therefore as a concerned citizen and having made a study of locations for an Ulster County Airport, and having introudced the resolutions that established the Airport Commission, I called this public meeting."

The Freeman in an exclusive analysis of the interim report Jan. 8 listed the sites under study and noted that only two met the exacting criteria for airports, the Galesville site in Town of Shawangunk and the Hurley Mountain site in Town of Hurley.

Ellenville School Board

Bloom Principal Aide

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

ELLENVILLE — The Central School Board met last night and appointed an assistant principal of the Secondary School. It also recognized five separate bargaining agencies for non-teaching personnel.

The board appointed Clark O. Bloom, a supervisor of mathmatics, to the new post of assistant Secondary School principal.

Bloom came to the school system in 1954 as a teacher of mathematics. He holds a Master of Science Degree in education from the University of Pennsylvania and is a former president of the Association of Mathematics Teachers of New York State, Ulster County Teachers Association, Ellenville Teachers Association and the Ellenville PTA.

Bloom was one of about 35 applicants for the position, of which 10 were personally interviewed by Superintendent of Schools Thomas Hayden.

The setting up of bargaining agencies for the five non-teaching staffs is a mandate of the state's Taylor Law.

The 18 members of the custodial staff will be represented by the Custodial Unit of the Ellenville Central School District Civil Service Employes Association of the Ulster County Chapter of the Civil Service Employes Association, Inc.

The CSEA representation was the only non-local organization the school board was faced with.

The clerical personnel will be represented by the Ellenville Central School Clerical Staff Association; cafeteria personnel are to be represented by the Ellenville Central School Cafeteria Staff and the Ellenville Central School Bus Driving Staff Association will represent the part-time bus drivers.

Civil service management personnel may, should they so decide, also organize. This would include the school's administrative assistant, business manager, cafeteria manager, and superintendent of building and grounds.

The only board member opposed to the representation was Richard McDole who claimed that the unit division separating the five agencies "will increase the opportunity (of the organizations) to magnify their demads."

McDole indicated that it would have been better had all the non-teaching personnel been organized under one organization.

The school board will move into negotiations with the newly established agencies within the near future.

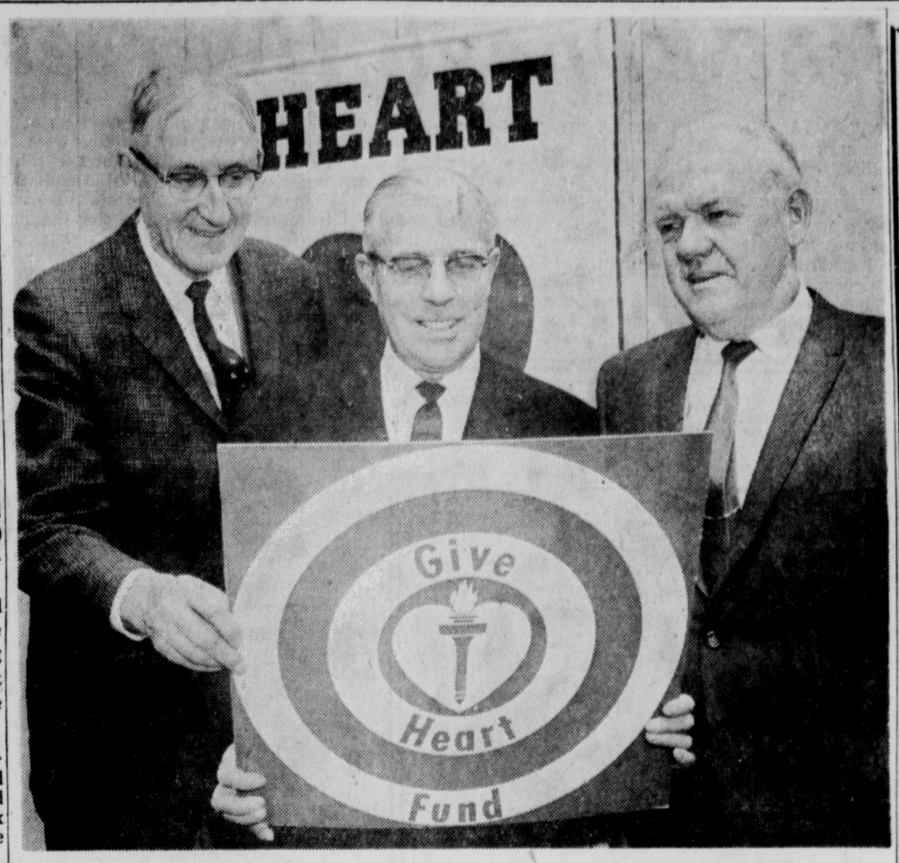

Recognition will become effective 20 days after the posting of a notice of the action, and will remain effective until 120 days prior to the budget submission date in 1970.

In other action, the board decided to request the presence of the three Wawarsing legislators to attend the next executive session Jan. 29, on the county sales tax issue.

The legislators, Lawrence D. Craft, Robert H. Kuhlmann and Frank Muller, will be asked about the possibility of sales tax monies being slated for the individual school districts.

It was pointed out during the meeting that the Sullivan County sales tax will benefit Ellenville Central during the coming year.

Between $5,000 to $10,000 will be granted to the school on a per pupil basis, depending upon the number of Sullivan County students attending the Ellenville schools.

HEART SUNDAY CHAIRMAN — Newly appointed Heart Fund chairmen Deweese W. DeWitt (L) financial institutions and Raymond Korzendorfer (R) in charge of Kingston Heart Sunday, confer with Arthur Chipp county chairman. The Mid-Hudson Heart Association drive will be conducted the week of Feb. 9 culminating in Heart Sunday Feb. 16. Volunteers may contact the heart association office, 72 Main Street, to donate their time. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Not Enough Hearses for 1918 Influenza

ATLANTA (UPI)—The death toll across the world was 21 million, and America listed its dead at 548,452.

New York City counted 851 deaths in a single day. Chicago did not have enough hearses, and bodies stacked up in the morgues.

This was how the Spanish Influenza struck, slaying hundreds of thousands of human beings in a few autumn weeks in 1918, while the allied armies of the First World War were only six weeks from victory in the trenches of Europe.

The mysterious killer—infinitely more deadly than any of the weapons of war and never identified by medical scientists of that day—killed its millions and disappeared. Where it went, no one knows.

The Spanish Influenza struck every country in the world, sparing only the island of St. Helena (where in 1821 Napoleon had died a prisoner) and Mauritius Island in the Indian Ocean.

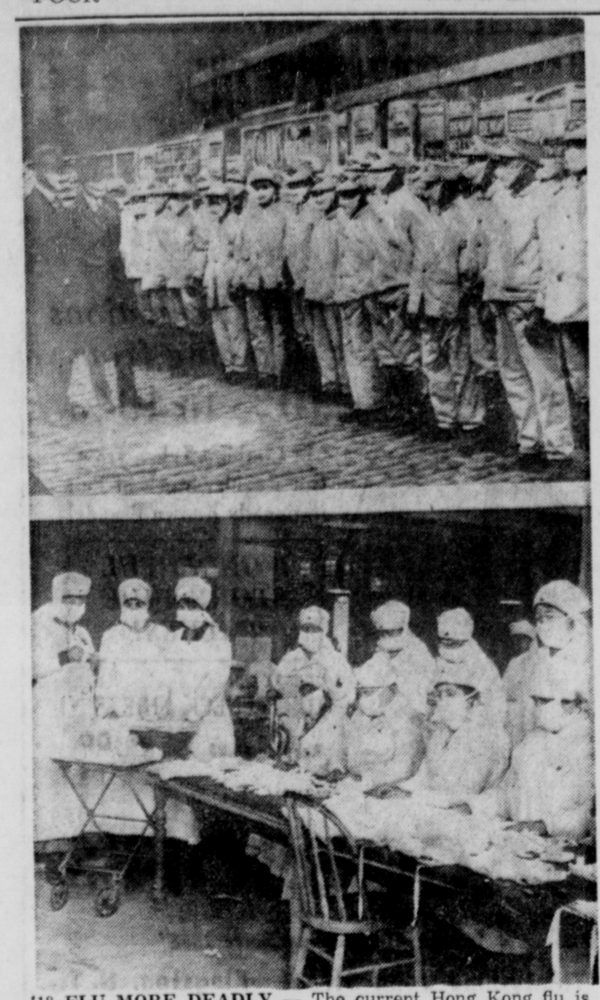

India's death toll was the highest of any nation, 12,500,000. The Dutch East Indies was second with 800,000, and the United States was third with 548,452. The continent of North America suffered a death toll of 1,075,685.

The Spanish flu, so named because it was believed to have originated in Spain and imported into this country by a Coast Guard cutter returning from convoy duty, spread incredibly fast and over vast distances. Coast Guard searching parties discovered Eskimo villages in remote, inaccessible Alaskan regions wiped out to the last adult and child.

A British army officer who traveled through northern Persia in 1919 brought a report that in village after village there were no survivors.

The U.S. death toll was 10 times the 53,513 American lives lost in battle in World War I.

Like a fighter probing for weak spots, the virus apparently struck first in America at Camp Funston, Ft. Riley, Kans., in March of 1918. Through the spring and summer it did little damage. But when autumn came it returned as a killer. It ravaged Army camps, cities and hamlets all over the nation.

'18 FLU MORE DEADLY — The current Hong Kong flu is perilous, but by no means as deadly as the Spanish flu of 1918. At top, masked Chicago sanitation men are inspected during the height of the 1918 epidemic. Bottom, masked Red Cross workers are busy making gauze masks during the plague of Spanish flu. In 1918, the death toll across the world was 21 million. America listed its dead at 548,452. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Planning Board Sets Open House

MARBLETOWN — An open house will be held by the Marbletown Planning Board Saturday at the Town Hall in Stone Ridge.

The purpose of the event, which will take place from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., is to acquaint citizens of the community with a new zoning ordinance which the board would like to see the town enact.

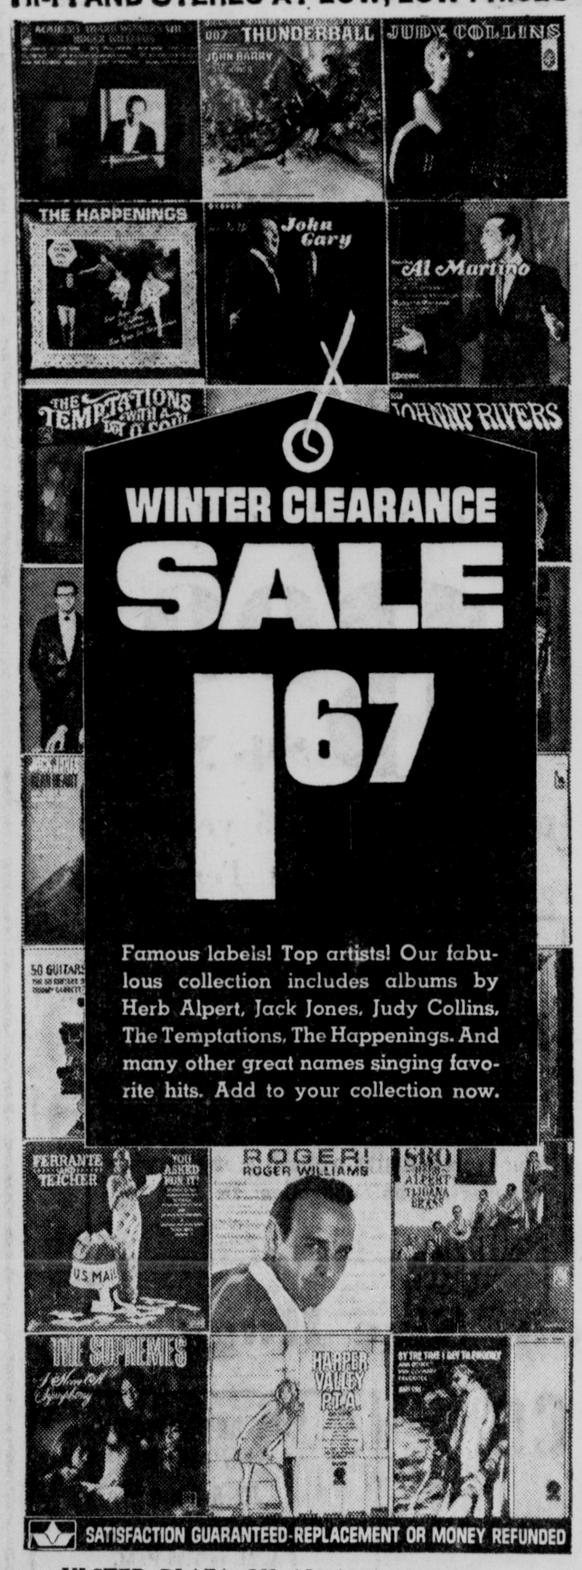

Members of the Planning Board will be present to answer any questions relating to the zoning ordinance.

During the past two months the planners have held a number of meetings with fire companies, citizen's organizations, civic and service groups of the township to discuss the proposed ordinance. The open house will afford opportunity for further questions.

A copy of the proposed ordinance and the accompanying zoning map is on file for inspection at Town Hall.

Vernon Barnhart is chairman of the Planning Board. Other members uinclude Frank Brooks, Clarence Hansen, Stanley Walker, Fred Meyer, Mrs. G. R. Numrich and Mrs. Kenneth Davenport.

Red Ambush Boomerangs, 115 of Foe Are Killed

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist troops ambushed a mile-long U S. truck convoy northwest of Saigon, military spokesmen said today. The Red force lost 115 dead when the Americans fought back with armored vehicles, artillery and air strikes.

8 Yanks Killed

The spokesmen said eight Americans died and 13 were wounded in shattering the attack on the 50-truck convoy along a wooded stretch of Highway 239 between Dau Thieng and Tay Ninh City. The Communists struck with rocket grenades and automatic weapons fire but were thwarted by armored personnel carriers and helicopter gunships that guarded the convoy.

Later Tuesday, another heavily protected American convoy was ambushed on a road eight miles away while traveling between Tay Ninh City and Cu Chi. U.S. forces defending the trucks reported killing seven Red soldiers.

The attacks came in the area where allied commanders have said 40,000 Communist troops are concentrated.

In neighboring Laos, Communist commandos attacked the Laotian army's ammunition depot near Vientiane, overrunning the compound in an early morning assault today and sending more than 2,000 tons of munitions up in thunderous explosions. It was the closest major attack to the Laotian capital the Communists had made.

Defends Viet Troops

In Saigon, South Vietnamese Lt. Gen. Do Cao Tri, commander of the region around the capital, said government troops now are capable of taking the leading role in fighting the Viet Cong with American and other allied troops playing only a supporting role. He said his forces had checked Viet Cong attempts to infiltrate into the Saigon area and that any attack against the capital would be immediately defeated.

Company for Shatalov

MOSCOW (UPI)—Three Soviet cosmonauts rode a Soyuz 5 spacecraft today into earth orbit and began maneuvers leading to a link-up with Vladimir Shatalov in Soyuz 4, launched Tuesday.

Western experts predicted the Soviets would launch more Soyuz vehicles soon and all would lock together and begin forming a space station circling the earth.

The four Soviet cosmonauts, all on their first space missions, matched the group of four U.S. Gemini astronauts in 1965 as the largest contingent of spacemen in orbit at once. In two capsules, the Gemini fliers rendezvoused but did not link together.

Tass said Shatalov watched from his craft as Soyuz 5 sped into orbit. "Au revoir in outer space," he called to the three newcomers hurtling toward him.

If successful, the link-up will be the first between two manned space vehicles and may lead to an immediate try for one of the Soyuz 5 cosmonauts to join Shatalov in Soyuz 4 in an unprecedented space transfer.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the three newest cosmonauts—Lt. Col. Boris Volynov, Alexei Eliseyev and Lt. Col. Yevgeny Khrunov—had established communication with Soyuz 4 and "they started a program of joint experiments in space."

MORTON SOBELL

Sobells-- No Tears

NEW YORK (UPI)—Morton Sobell, convicted of conspiring to give Russia the secret of America's atom bomb, was free today, having served nearly 18 years of a 30-year prison term.

The 51-year-old former engineer was greeted by his 74-year-old mother, his wife and their two children when he arrived Tuesday night by bus from the federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa.

Ruled Tuesday that he was entitled to credit for 7½ months he served in prison between arrest and sentencing.

Those months, added to time taken off his sentence for good behavior, entitled him to an immediate release.

Sobell was convicted in 1951 along with Julius and Ethel Rosenberg and Mrs. Rosenberg's brother, David Greenglass, of conspiring to give Soviet agents a sketch of the "Fat Man" atomic bomb which was dropped on Nagasaki in 1945.

The Rosenbergs, found guilty of actually handing the sketch to a Russian vice consul in New York, were convicted of espionage and executed June 19, 1953.

Greenglass, who testified for the government, was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment and released after serving 10 years.

Sobell was sentenced to 30 years, the maximum penalty for conspiring to violate the espionage law.

Sobell's wife, Helen, who had appealed repeatedly for his release, was carrying an armful of red and white gladioli when she greeted him at the Port Authority bus terminal on Manhattan's West Side. There were no tears at their reunion, just a quick embrace before they stepped into a taxi waiting to take them to their Greenwich Village apartment.

Their son, Mark, a 19-year-old computer programer, rode with them. Sobell's mother, Rose, and his 28-year-old daughter, Mrs. Sydney Clemens, rode in another taxi.

Sobell was arrested by the FBI in Laredo, Tex., in August, 1950. He had fled with his family in July to Mexico. Mexican authorities returned them to U.S. soil.

At Sobell's arraignment, bail was set at $100,000. He was unable to raise that amount, and remained in jail until he was convicted and sentenced in April, 1951. It was those months in jail for which the courts allowed him credit Tuesday.

Spenders' Swan Song

Some of the men who spent the country into the biggest 8-year deficit in history are not content with their own handiwork. They are leaving instructions for their successors to carry on the spending. The spending some of them urge as their last official acts show that the mandate the electorate gave President-elect Nixon to give the taxpayer a break slid off their backs: For instance:

Outgoing Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Wilbur J. Cohen urged that Social Security benefits be extended to two million of the nation's disabled, irrespective of age. "The disabled are in exactly the same situation as the aged—they are usually retired, live on low incomes and only half have voluntary health insurance," he pointed out.

There is a big difference. The aged on Social Security have paid into the fund from which they now draw. Presumably, the disabled have not. Their benefits would reduce those of the payees. Even if they are given a modest $100 a month, the two million would draw $2.4 billion a year from the Social Security fund, already depleted for the blind and other disabled. These are welfare cases. If they are to be supported, they should be charged to the Treasury, not to workers who have made an investment for their retirement.

Outgoing Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman called for a massive expansion of food programs for the poor and the creation of a national lobby to eliminate hunger in America. Food would go to two or three million more persons not sharing in the food stamp program now—costing at a low estimate $1 billion on top of the $1.1 billlion being spent on it each year.

But these are small potatoes beside the program Americans for Democratic Action presented Congress through Jack Conway, chairman of the executive committee. It calls for the Federal Government to fund a $5 billion annual public service employment program to guarantee work for all who need it; a new $2.50 an hour minimum wage and a $5200 guaranteeed annual income based on it; a 50 per cent increase in Social Security payments, a national health insurance program, and much, much more.

What these gentlemen do not seem to understand is that the electorate retired Santa Claus at least for four years, and it is hoped, a middle of the road Congress got the message.

75.9 Million Workers

Never before in this country have so many been gainfully employed. The final monthly report pictured a booming economy that showed no signs of leveling off, as total employment rose by 1.5 million to 75.9 million and unemployment declined to 2.8 million. For the first time in a decade, there was no perceptible drop in farm employment of 5.9 million.

The statistics boded well for American families also. The unemployment rate for married men, the breadwinners, dropped from 1.6 per cent to 1.4 per cent, the lowest since this particular survey was begun in 1955. And for all adult males, the rate dropped from 2.0 to 1.8 per cent, at its lowest level since these figures were compiled in 1948.

Perhaps the most exciting improvement was in the rate for jobless non-whites. It dropped to its lowest level since 1953 of 6.0 per cent. Though more than double the white unemployed rate of 2.9 per cent, nevertheless it is going down in the right direction and promises to continue downward. When it meets the white rate, just about all the social problems can be ended—poverty, the costs of welfare and equal opportunity—for the breadwinners in all families will be able to take care of their own.

David Lawrence Says

Saigon Must Have Program For Replacing U.S. Troops

WASHINGTON — At last the Saigon government has begun to understand that it must take the responsibility for the defense of South Vietnam so the forces of the United States can be gradually withdrawn during the next year or two.

What President Nguyen Van Thieu has in mind is to recommend an immediate withdrawal of 'anywhere from 20,000 to 60,000 American troops," with a timetable for future withdrawals covering 150,000 to 200,000 men by the end of 1969. This is part of a major project which is directly related to the course of the peace negotiations in Paris.

Up to now, the South Vietnamese government has given the impression that it did not know in which direction the United States might be going at the peace table, and it has seemed to be reluctant to speed up the negotiations because of a belief that maybe the Nixon administration would be more friendly to its cause.

What has not been realized by the South Vietnamese is that the anti-war critics in this country have gained considerable ground. There is a growing feeling that America should put the burden of defending South Vietnam on the Saigon regime.

The decision to work out a plan for the gradual withdrawal of the 540,000 American troops now in South Vietnam may turn out to be a factor in moving the Paris negotiations ahead when the envoys of the United States are ready to make a formal request for reciprocity. For if 50,000 American troops are pulled out of South Vietnam, the assumption here is that North Vietnam will have to agree to begin to withdraw some of its forces from the South..

The likelihook is that the United States will in due time point out that, since the bombing of North Vietnam has been terminated, it is logical that North Vietnam give an indication of its readiness to make peace. While there has recently been a reduction in the intensity of the fighting, the United States faces a dilemma if it withdraws a large number of troops and then a major offensive is begun by the North.

It has been apparent that the South Vietnamese have not fully understood the aims of the United States in the Paris peace talks and have even questioned whether the American delegation would make some kind of agreement with Hanoi which would be a sell-out." The Saigon government now realizes that, in view of the pressure inside the United States for a peace settlement, there must be a definite program for replacing the American troops which will have been withdrawn, and that there must also be some sign from Hanoi that it will not resume the big offensives which have been carried on in the past.

President Thieu's proposal to recruit more troops to offset the reduction in United States forces has made a favorable impression in Washington. Some of the military men here accept the theory that South Vietnam can build a large army to take over the task of defending their country, but it isn't clear to them how soon such a program could really become effective. From the point of view of the United States, however, once South Vietnam is assured of continued financial support and a supply of munitions and equipment, it would be feasible to start the gradual withdrawal of American forces.

If the exodus were planned over a two-year period, there would be time to observe whether the North Vietnamese were plotting to take advantage of the move and build up for renewed offensives. If this happened, there would be a resumption of the war on a bigger scale and perhaps the retention of a large body of American troops to assist the South Vietnamese.

The belief prevails here that North Vietnam has been hurt considerably by the war and is ready for some kind of peace agreement. But nothing really can be decided until the new administration in Washington takes office.

The important thing at the moment is that the United States and the South Vietnamese governments have come to an understanding in principle, and it is expected that within the next few weeks the details of the formula will be worked out. This in turn will permit South Vietnam to participate in the Paris talks with more confidence than it has had heretofore.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Next week I will lose my private pipeline to the White House but, while it is still functioning with a "busy" signal, a fella may be pardoned for looking ahead. Some of the political seers who supported Richard Nixon because he represented a "change" now view him with editorial alarm and predict that the new administration will be "more of the same."

They point to the holdovers who will occupy high posts in the new administration and it is an accepted philosophy that President Nixon will adhere to many of the basic policies of the Johnson Administration. He holds the same hand of cards in the Vietnam poker deck. His strength in the new Congress is questionable because (1) he is a minority President with no mandate from the people; (2) the Democrats control both houses.

In a manner of speaking, the fault lies with us. We equate a new man with a fresh miracle. To the contrary, most new Presidents get off to a shaky start, because our Ship of State grows bigger each year and more difficult to hold to a steady course. Each administration requires time to locate and use the sources of power wisely.

Unless you have spent time in the West Wing of the White House — a rabbit warren of intellectuals — you have no ntion of the number of reins which run directly to the oval office of the President. Of one thing you may be sure — Nixon is going to be his own President and there will be no statements from any of the Republican Joe Califanos, the Bill Moyers and the Walt Rostows.

We are inclined to forget that few men have prepped for the Presidency as long as Richard Nixon. From 1952, he crouched in the shadow of Dwight D. Eisenhower, and seemed incapable of running for office without the personal endorsement of the old general.

I have known Mr. Nixon for a number of years and, if I could sum him up in a sentence, I would say that he reminds me of a student who knows the right answer to every question, but is not personally convinced that they are correct. Two years ago, a man named F. Herbert Burke was running for the House of Representatives in Florida and I introduced Nixon as "the next President of the United States," although he wasn't running for office at the time. Secretly, he is always running.

As a known "hawk" the President-elect must endorse the peace offensive of Lyndon Johnson and, if Henry Cabot Lodge cannot build a table suitable for the Cong and North Vietnam to lean on, the Nixon administration is going to have to threaten renewed bombing of North Vietnam — at which time the polls will show a decline in Nixon's popularity in this country.

If, on the other hand, the President can manage to get the contending parties to discuss substantive issues, he is bound to be rated as a successful Chief Executive. My feeling — if anyone is interested — is that nothing is going to move the Paris talks beyond the petty bickering stage because it serves the purpose of Ho Chi Minh to have stopped U.S. bombing of the North without ever coming to a true peace agreement.

On the domestic front, very few blacks look upon Nixon as a soul brother. The unions do not expect the new President to favor their contention that they need more money and fewer restrictions. Inflation, which is to be a more insidious enemy that the others, can hardly be fought by a man just accepting a one hundred percent increase in Presidential salary.

I have no crystal ball, but the nation is strong within me that Nixon, in 1972, is going to face the last of the Kennedys. After the violent death of Senator Robert F. Kennedy, Americans began to hope that the iron-jawed youngster, Senator Ted Kennedy of Massachusetts, would be content with his Senate seat.

We should have known better. Where danger lurks, the Kennedy boys hunt it down. Teddy pretended to be surprised when he beat Senator Russell B. Long for the post of Democratic Party Whip; in reality, his men had canvassed every Senate vote before the party caucused and, barring a secret ballot betrayal, Kennedy had to win.

Hickel, Who Ignores Laws, Hedging 'Federal' Appointment

(Copyrigh, 1969, by Bell-McClure Syndicate)

WASHINGTON — Various nicknames have been coined for Walter J. Hickel, the would-be secretary of the Interior. Because of his generosity in handing out concessions to oil companies in Alaska, one nickname is "help-yourself-Hickel." But Senators who have made an investigation of the Hickel reocord think that equally appropriate is "I-am-the-law Hickel" or "leap-before-you look" Hickel.

The latter is derived from Hickel's purchase of a Swedish ferry boat for use in Alaskan coastwise waters when it was obvious such use would be a violation of the Jones Act prohibiting foreign built vessels from plying in coastal trade.

The "I-am-the-law" nickname is derived from the Governor's habit of taking the law into his own hands when it specifies that he should do exactly the opposite.

One such case was his attempt to prevent the Eskimo Fishing Cooperative at Bethel from selling its salmon to a Japanese freezer ship. Despite the fact that the law specifically gave the Eskimos the right to sell their catch to whomever they wanted and the Japanese ship had been cleared by the State Department for Alaskan trade.

Hickel, however, took the law into his own hands and sent ten state employees including a state trooper to try to board the ship scare it away and break up the deal.

More recently "I-am-the-law" Hickel has been taking the law into his own hands in his decision to remain as governor of Alaska even after his official appointment as Secretary of the Interior on Jan. 20.

Two-Job-Hickel

Apparently Hickel fears he may not be confirmed or that confirmation may be delayed; so he wants to hang on to his job as Governor of Alaska.

This, however, is clearly against the Alaskan Constitution, which states: "The Governor shall not hold any other office...."

Hickel also ignored the law when he appointed Harold Strandberg, Commissioner of Public Works, despite the fact that Strandberg had been a member of the legislature which voted to increase the salary of the Commissioner of Public Works. For a legislator or a congressman to take a job for which he has voted a salary increase is against the Constitution.

However, "I - am - the-law" Hickel carefully waited until the legislature had adjourned so Strandberg's appointment could not be challenged. When Joe LaRocca broke the story in the Fairbanks News-Miner, Hickel had his 28-year-old Attorney General Kent Edwards, write an opinion whitewashing the appointment. However, its now being challenged by a tax-payers suit and remains illegal just the same.

Another case where Hickel put himself above the law was when he tried to remove Clem Tillion of Halibut Cover from the Northwest International Fisheries Commission's advisory board because he proposed increasing the severance tax on oil companies in Alaska. The oil companies had been paying only two per cent. The University of Alaska, after a study, recommended a severance tax of ten per cent. Tillion, a Republican member of the Alaskan legislature, proposed a two per cent increase.

Hickel, a great champion of the oil companies was so irate at Tillion his fellow Republican, that he wrote a letter to the Interior Department in Washington — which he will head next week — recommending that Tillion be fired from the Fisheries advisory board. Tillion is a commercial king crab and salmon fisherman, eminently qualified to sit on the fisheries board. So the Interior Department refused.

Credibility Gap

To make matters worse, Hickel's office, when queried by the Fairbanks News-Miner, flatly denied that he had written the letter. Later Sen. Bob Blodgett produced a copy of the letter. The governor, however, never retracted his denial.

In his new job as Secretary of the Interior, "I-am-the-law" Hickel will be able to fire Clem Tillion, as he will also be able to ladle out oil leases with no questions asked.

Gov. Hickel also ignored a highway construction bond issued law voted by the people of Alaska in 1960 to build a highway from Fairbanks to Nome with $1,000,000 of state funds plus $19,000,000 of federal funds. Instead he is now building a winter trail to the north slope to help the oil companies.

This is in direct violation of the law which states "It is the intent of the state to participate with mineral developers (in this case the oil companies) on a 50-50 matching basis."

Furthermore says Sen. Bob Blodgett, D-Teller, "state law provides that construction expenditures exceeding $20,000 shall be on a competitive bid contract basis.

"Gov. Hickel took the $1,000,000 general obligation bond issue dedicated to the ferry and the road bond program," said Sen. Blodgett. He did this incidentally, without an OK from the Legislature, but after a few individual phone calls to legislators. . . .

During his career as a very successful private businessman in Alaska, Hickel was constantly complaining about the dictatorial methods of government. When he became governor of Alaska he adopted the dictatorial methods he had complained about.

The most amazing incident in the career of "I-am-the-law" Hickel however was his purchase of a $7,000,000 Swedish ferry boat which was against the law to use in Alaskan coastal water.

Research Cutbacks Cloud Future Development of U.S.

By RAY CROMLEY
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Adequate notice has not been taken of the fact that of late over-all U.S. government obligations for research and development have been declining in real dollars.

Yet Soviet studies indicate that one ruble put into research does more to increase industrial and defense strength over the long run than two rubles put into plant expansion.

Those American companies which over the years have put large sums into research are those which have made phenomenal growth — International Business Machines, Hewlett-Packard, Control Data, Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing, Merck, Eastman Kodak, Syntex, International Telephone and Telegraph, to name a few at random.

The major U.S. defense advances of the past two decades have come from far-ranging research and development programs.

The same principles apply to poverty, riots, crime and education. There can be no adequate solutions, or even satisfactory partial solutions, without much greater emphasis on research.

Ignorance in these fields is phenomenal. Little is known about the causes and cure of crime, poverty, riots or the ignorance that is handed on from generation to generation by families which have lived for years in what is euphemistically called "Cultural deprivation." Educational techniques lag distressingly, even for the average and above-average youngster.

Defense technology is now in such a state of flux that new discoveries could change the balance of power within a decade. With this in mind, the Soviet Union has been increasing its research budgets. Red China made certain that her missile-nuclear scientists were spared the worst ravages of the Cultural Revolution.

Unfortunately, the congressional - administration spending cuts of late have hit hard at research. Because research doesn't show immediate results, cutbacks often seem innocent when they are voted.

The tragedy is that the payoff often shows up a decade or two later. Cuts made in 1967 and 1968 will show up in the late 1970s and early 1980s. But it will be impossible to turn back the clock then.

Fortunately, President-elect Nixon's key appointees are hard advocates of more research. Dr. Lee Du Bridge, president of the California Institute of Technology, who is to become White House science adviser, cannot talk to anyone for more than five minutes without giving a pitch for more research. The Hewlett-Packard Co., headed by the next deputy secretary of defense, spends more on research per dollar of sales than all but a handful of major U.S. Companies.

Robert H. Finch, secretary-designate for Health, Education and Welfare, is deeply committed to more research in crime, education and welfare.

The problem is whether these men and the new administration will be able to turn the tide in view of the immediate crises they will face.

English Sickness Seen As Not Really Terminal

EDITOR's NOTE: An authoritative British diplomatic writer reports on Britain's economic ills, or "The English Sickness" as these problems have been called abroad.

By MALCOLM RUTHERFORD
London Financial Times-UPI

LONDON—Britain, in spite of everything that is said about it, is still a desirable place to live. Despite depressing monthly trade figures, about 85 per cent of its people—a high proportion—continually seem to get richer and are able to provide such things as better education for their children, or better heating for their homes.

And, more than anything else, there is the tradition of civil peace. The riots during the Democratic convention in Chicago are almost inconceivable in Britain. So are the shootings by the police last fall when Italy staged a general strike. So is the French student-workers "revolution" of last May.

When a big demonstration does take place in Britain—as it did in the anti-Vietnam War affair last Oct. 27—demonstrators and police end up singing together. As the world's press continually reminds us, Britain's (unarmed) police do seem to be wonderful.

Such things matter, though there have been disquieting signs recently—such as the refusal of some universities to admit some Conservative party speakers—that they can no longer be taken for granted. At least as important, however, is the question of whether the leopard, so long identified as a sickly beast, can change its spots, or rather whether the lion can regain its teeth.

It is a saddening thought that the answer is possibly no. One reason why is to be found among the politicians. It is a myth in Britain, propagated by the two main political parties and sometimes believed abroad, that there are major differences of policy between them.

In fact both of them, Labor and Conservative, have now been in office for a similar amount of time since the end of the second World War. A comparison of their records suggests only one big difference between them, which semantically is not a difference at all.

A Conservative government or even a limited measure of the rapid decolonization of Africa, which would be difficult, because of Conservative opposition, for a Labor government to do. And a Labor government puts through measures, such as successive rounds of deflation or even a limited measures of support for the United States in Vietnam, which it would be difficult for a Conservative government to do, because of Labor opposition.

The crucial field of economics provides a striking example. The Conservative government—officially the antiplanning party—set up, in the early 1960s, the National Economic Development Council, whose brief came very close to providing a formal five-year national plan. The Labor opposition—officially the "planning" party—opposed it. When Labor came to office in 1964 it set up a Department of Economic Affairs to do much the same thing. The Conservative opposition opposed it.

Making allowance for publicity gimmicks, the difference between the two ideas was marginal.

The American examples is catching. President Johnson talked of keeping his options open. So does British Prime Minister Harold Wilson. The trouble, in a state of chronic economic weakness, is that in Britain there are very few options left.

Johnson talked of consensus politics. That is exactly what there now is in Britain—a position where the leaders of both major parties privately agree with each other, though they would not say so in public.

Most British would, I suppose, accept readily enough that the country now plays a much less important role in world affairs than was the case a quarter-century ago. But very few would think of Britain as a doomed nation with nowhere to go but down.

The British have learned, some would say rightly, not to take the statements of their politicians at face value. Britain is a very old democracy and wise in the affairs of state.

The British know that, in the end, a nation saves itself by its own exertions and not by its government's. They know, too, what a real crisis looks like and when and if a real crisis does appear on the British horizon, they may still be able to rise to it.

Was Israel's Attack on Beirut Justified?

By PHIL NEWSOM

Whatever may have been Israel's justification for her year-end attack on Beirut airport, the fact remains she chose as her target the one Arab neighbor who took no part in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war and one which always has preferred banking to fighting.

She also took on the one least prepared.

Thousands of international travelers pass through Beirut's airport each day and the fact that no one was killed probably was more luck than planning.

At any rate, the attack gave substance to the charge that Israel had recklessly endangered world peace, just as she opened herself to similar charges in November, 1966, when she sent a brigade on a punitive raid against Jordan.

Of all the Arab neighbors who had fought and lost against Israel in two other wars, Jordan's King Hussein probably was the least desirous of the conflict which finally broke out in June, 1967.

One immediate result of the Beirut raid was the fall of Premier Abdullah Yaffi's conservative government which had been only moderately pro-Egypt and its replacement by another whose premier-designate once described President Gamal Abdel Nasser as a "superman."

It led to student demonstrations and demands among Moslem leaders, students and leftists for military conscription and distribution of arms to frontier villages.

Both of these now have been undertaken.

Certainly, the new government will take a stiffer attitude against Israel than in the past.

The new premier, Rashid Karami, is Lebanon's most prominent Moslem leader and has held the premier's post many times before. He is regarded as an Arab nationalist with strong sympathies for Nasser but with emphasis on Lebanon's indpendence.

Defendant Denies Charges In County Court

Ronald J. Augustine, 21 of Sunrise Park on trial in county court on narcotics charges, testified in his own behalf Tuesday and denied he gave a small packet of marijuana to an undercover narcotics agent during the summer of 1967.

In previous testimony, Richard Metal, the undercover agent said he was given a packet of marijuana by Augustine, "to hold him over," until a buy could be made with the $60 given to Augustine by Metal. Metal also testified that Augustine had given him a marijuana cigarette to smoke at one of their meetings.

Augustine denied giving Metal a marijuana cigarette, and testified that he had made the cigarette from oregano, a spice. He also testified that he gave his ring as security for the $60 when he failed to deliver the marijuana buy he had promised Metal. He said he never intended to deliver the narcotics while under cross-examination by Assistant District Attorney Robert A. MacKinnon. Augustine's attorney Francis Martocci questioned the witness when he took the stand early in the afternoon. County Judge Raymond J. Mino adjourned the case to Thursday 10 a.m.

'In Finest American Spirit,' Remarks Fish of LBJ Talk

WASHINGTON — Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., calling from Washington following retiring president Lyndon B. Johnson's address to Congress said he felt the speech was "in the finest American spirit."

Speaking of the Congress itself, Fish said "It was not a critical audience, it was an audience that would applaud and applaud seriously for a man who summed up his administration by saying 'We tried.'

"The president, who was swept into office with the biggest majority of popular votes ever afforded any public official and who said, on March 31 of last year, that he would not again seek this highest office in the land, was afforded not only a courteous hearing by the joint session of Congress, but I hope, the world."

Fish said he did not feel that the speech was a state of the union message but "a sentimental gathering of people, who with the president said, 'Yes, I tried.'"

"The figures he gave, the resumes of the union as it exists today, were lost in a wave of sentiment of a Congress that knew that here was a man, like themselves, who could simply say, 'We tried.' A man who had lived his adult life in these halls and who was gracious in his compliments to the Congress and who called to the spirit of the other men who understood.

"Last night's message was not factual, it was not what lies ahead, it was a sentimental call upon the past. The problems of this nation remain to be solved by the next administration but America is great enough, our people are great enough, our spirit is great enough to pause and pay tribute to a man in all humility summed up five years of administration by saying, 'We tried.'"

Annual Best Dressed List Includes Men

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The men share honors with the women for the first time in the 28-year history of the annual best-dressed list.

Embracing unisex with a list of the "top 12" of the elegant males is just one of the breaks with tradition in this purportedly worldwide ratings of the fashionable announced Sunday.

For the first time, there are two lists of women cited, one group of the "top 12" for being "best-dressed in the classic high fashion tradition," another "top 12" listed as being the "most original, imaginative, inventive."

Mrs. Alfred Bloomingdale, of Beverly Hills, Calif., wife of the head of Diner's Club, topped the 12 women in the "classic category."

Mrs. Wyatt Cooper, the former Gloria Vanderbilt, of New York, led the list of the 12 "most imaginative" women.

Her husband, the writer and television director, headed the new list of men so that the Coopers now share honors as the first husband-wife team.

Maya Plisetskaya, prima ballerina with the Bolshoi Ballet Company, rates in the "most imaginative" group, the first Russian woman to make it.

The three complete lists follow.

Top 12 in the "great fashion classicists of 1968" are:

—Mrs. Alfred Bloomingdale.

—Mrs. Charles Engelhard, Jr., of New York and South Africa, the wife of the precious metals magnate.

—Mrs. Harilaos Theodoracopulos, of New York and Athens, the former model Betsy Pickering.

—Marquesa Carol de Portago, of New York.

—Mrs. Liberman Savitt, of New York, the daughter of Mrs. S. Joseph Tankoos, whose husband runs the Hotel Delmonico.

—The Dutchess de Cadaval, of Paris and Sintra, Portugal.

—Mme. Ahmed Benhima, of New York, the wife of the Moroccan ambassador to the United Nations.

The 12 "most imaginative" women:

—Mrs. Wyatt Cooper.

—Barbara Streisand Mrs. Elliot Gould, the actress and singer.

—Mrs. Renny Saltzman, of New York, television fashion coordinator.

—Diahann Carroll, the singing star.

—Mme. Maya Plisetskaya.

—Marisol Escobar, the sculptress.

—Mrs. Robin Butler, of New York, a Vogue editor.

The 12 best-dressed men:

German Diplomat to Address Woman's Club

The Woman's Club of Saugerties will have Mrs. Hanna Kiep as guest speaker for their meeting January 23 at the Dutch Arms Chapel in Saugerties. The International Affairs Department Chairman, Mrs. Joseph Hemphill, will introduce Mrs. Kiep.

Mrs. Kiep is Women's Affairs Secretary of the German Embassy in Washington. This position was newly created in the German Foreign Service in 1951, and she is the first woman to hold it.

Her husband, the late Dr. Otto C. Kiep, served in the United States from 1926 to 1933, first as Counselor in the German Embassy in Washington and later as Consul General in New York. Dr. and Mrs. Kiep returned to Germany in 1933, after he had resigned from the Foreign Service in protest against the National Socialist Government. In the following years he became a leading figure in the German resistance movement against Hitler. He was executed in the Nazi purge that followed the July 20, 1944 attempt on Hitler's life. Mrs. Kiep was also arrested and kept in prison for several months.

It was natural, therefore, that Mrs. Kiep was ready and anxious to play her part when the time came for rebuilding the shattered fabric of German social life. She was one of those who realized that the future of German democracy would depend on the extent to which German women associated themselves with public affairs in post-war Germany.

"Being back in this country now, a German diplomat myself, I try to explain to people here some of the hopes and struggles of the women in Germany," Mrs. Kiep said recently. "I feel that I am continuing my husband's work, as he would wish me to do. There is a sentence in your President Lincoln's Gettysburg Address that does describe my feelings precisely: 'That these honored dead shall not have died in vain'."

Mrs. Kiep, after the end of the war, was assistant to the Governor of Werzburg, Bavaria, in charge of youth affairs. In 1946, she became head of the foreign section of the Bavarian Red Cross in Munich. In 1950, she was appointed Women's Affairs Secretary at the German Consulate General in New York, and later was transferred in the same capacity to the German Embassy in Washington, D.C. In this capacity she served for several years as German Observer at the meetings of the Status of Women Commission of the United Nations.

Mrs. Kiep's primary function in the United States is to maintain close contact with American women in public life and American women's organizations. Through her work here Mrs. Kiep hopes to contribute toward a better understanding between the American and German people. "I believe," she says, "that most American women look upon my mission here as a compliment to themselves and to the work they have done as well as an expression of my country's earnest desire to pave the way for the greater participation of German women in all walks of life."

Mrs. Kiep was born in Brunswick, Germany, and studied law at the Universities of Berlin, Oxford, and Geneva. Her only son was reported missing in Russia during the war. She has two daughters, Mrs. Robert Rauch, who is an organist at one of the largest Protestant Churches in Munich, and Mrs. Bruce Clements, a graduate of Barnard College, who lives in Schenectady, New York. Mrs. Kiep has six grandchildren.

Torah Fund Meeting Scheduled Tonight

Sisterhood Ahavath Israel will hold a Torah Fund meeting this evening with Mrs. George Muller, chairman, in charge. A film entitled, "And a Bush Is Not Consumed," will be shown and a cocktail hour will take place from 8 to 9 p.m. Hospitality chairmen are Mrs. Irving Wilpan and Sherry Pincus.

Mrs. Irving Scher and Mrs. Seymour Semiloff will give a report on the convention which they attended in November.

Plans will be discussed for the donor-dinner scheduled for February 20. Reservations must be made by February 10 with Mrs. Sandy Gossett or Mrs. Seymour Seiloff.

On Wednesday, Feb. 12, there will be a human relations meeting in conjunction with Brotherhood Month and Social Action. Members of Kingston Human Relations Commission will be guests. Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman is a member of the commission.

Sisterhood held a board meeting Wednesday, Jan. 8, at which time Mrs. Scher, president, requested Mrs. Sol Henkind, National President, National Women's League of the United Synagogue, to read a telegram which was sent to Secretary of State Dean Rusk regarding the present Israeli-Arab situation.

It was announced Mrs. David Weinstein will complete the term of corresponding secretary due to the resignation of Mrs. Daniel Gikner.

Johnson-Coddington Engagement Told

Mrs. Betty Johnson of 143 Jansen Avenue, Kingston, announces the engagement of her daughter, Linda, to David Coddington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Coddington of 17 Abbey Street, this city. Miss Johnson is also the daughter of the late Elliott Johnson.

The bride-elect is a student at Kingston High School and is employed part time at Gant of Kingston. Her fiance is employed at Spiesman's Bakery.

An April wedding is planned.

Miss Carol Steffen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Steffen of East Arora and Robert Friday Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Friday, 32 Arnold Drive, Woodstock, were married at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 22, 1968, in the home of the bride's grandfather, Harold Steffen, Grand Island, Buffalo.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Maria Steffen as maid of honor. Charles Cadwallader of Albany was best man. After the ceremony a reception was held at the Yacht Club, Grand Island, Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. Friday spent their honeymoon in Curacao, Dutch Antilles, and are now at home in Baldwinsville, New York.

Gardiner Passes Regulations and Amendments

GARDINER — A four-hour public hearing at this township's fire house Tuesday, resulted in the passage of sub-dividion regulations, new road specifications, and amendments to the trailer ordinance.

Supervisor George Majestic pointed out that 83 of the 477 year-around Gardiner families will be affected by the new subdivision code which has eliminated the stop gap ordinance.

The sub division regulations, according to Supervisor Majestic, were created especially "to protect new home owners" and to insure that developers "live up to their promises."

A one acre formula for new homes was established. Developers must construct on one acre parcels with a minimum of a 100 foot frontage.

Developers must also set aside a 50 foot wide right of way to adjacent properties.

The new standarized road specification codes were established for areas not effected by the sub division regulations.

Majestic pointed out that Gardiner residents will no longer have to pay for inadequate roadways built by developers.

The new trailer codes conform to the one acre formula. Each trailer stall must meet a minimum requirement of 40,000 square feet.

The old requirement was 22,500 square feet.

The ammendments also provide for 600 feet of concrete slab, four inches thick, surrounding the base of each trailer.

There will be a $25 license fee for every 10 stalls, whether the 10 acre parcel utilizes each of the separate areas.

The cost will be incurred by the trailer park owner.

Baptists Elect Thursday Night

An important meeting for members of First Baptist Church is scheduled for Thursday night, Jan. 16 at 7:30 o'clock.

One of the key business transactions will be the selection of a pulpit committee to act for replacement of the Rev. James A. Braker, present pastor. The Rev. Mr. Braker will leave Kingston at the end of February, having accepted a call to a church in Cleveland Heights, O.

Action on the 1969 church budget also will feature the annual business meeting.

Sherwood Lasher, church moderator reports that election of officers, trustees and deacons will take place during the regular church meeting and corporate session.

A large attendance of members is anticipated.

GARY BOICE

THOMAS CANINO

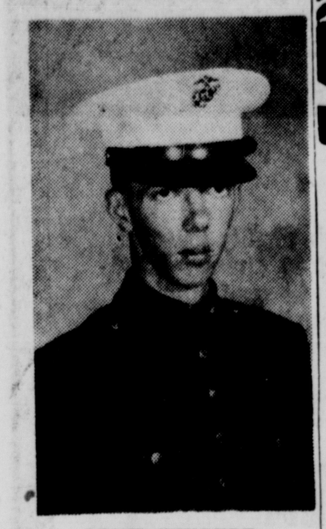

Two local air Force men, Thomas Canino and Gary Boice, have been assigned to technical schools.

Airman Boice is the son of Mrs. Marion E. Boice of 76 Esopus Avenue, Kingston. He recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas and has been assigned to Keesler AFB, Miss. for training in the air traffic control field. He is a 1968 graduate of Kingston High School. His father, Roger, lives in Pleasant Valley, N. Y.

Airman Canino, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick T. Canino of 23 South Chapel Hill Road, Highland, is also a recent graduate of basic training and has been assigned to Lowry AFB, Colo. for training in the armanent system field. He is a 1967 graduate of Highland Senior High School.

The Air Force recruiting office is located at Broadway and Maiden Lane, Kingston.

Was Home On Leave

LOUIS WIEGERT

Marine Private First Class Louis Wiegert, son of Eunice Louis F. Wiegert of Rosendale, reported for duty at Camp Pendleton, Calif., Sunday, after 20 days leave at home. Wiegert completed basic training at Parris Island, S. C. in October and took advanced training at Camp Lejeune, N. C. While at Camp Lejeune, he graduated Motor Transport School.

In the Service

GEORGE HOLLISTER — Son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Johnson, 9 Sterley Avenue, Saugerties, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He is remaining at Lackland for training as a security policeman. Airman Hollister was graduated in 1967 from Saugerties High School and attended Ulster County Community College in Stone Ridge.

Marine Graduate

PATRICIA HOYT

Woman Marine Private Patricia A. Hoyt, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul C. Hoyt of Kerhonkson was graduated from recruit training during ceremonies at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C. The eight-week training for women recruits consists of instruction in basic military subjects including drill, first aid, personal standards, courtesy and customs, and the Uniform Code of Military Justice. Parris Island is the only recruit training base for enlisted Women Marines.

JOHNSON PROMOTED — Jesse G. Johnson (L) is shown receiving his promotion to Army Specialist Five during ceremonies in Manheim Germany. Johnson is the son of Mrs. Beulah E. Johnson of Ulster Trailer Park. He is a 1966 graduate of Kingston High School and has served in Germany for the past year. Last month he was married to the former Rosita Pezcet, of Australia. He was formerly a mechanic at King Chrysler on Albany Avenue before joining the Army.

Saugerties Men Now in Marines

Private Joseph Ferraro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Salvator P. Ferraro of Rt. 1, Box 22, Saugerties, and Private Gary Michaelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leniod Michelson of RD 1,' Box 432, Saugerties, departed last week for Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C., to begin eight weeks of recruit training.

According to their Marine Recruiter Sgt. Bill Hickok, they enlisted in November under the Marine 120-day delay program which enabled them to enlist and then delay their departure date until after the holidays. This program is an added benefit to them because it counts for longevity purposes towards their first pay raise which they receive after four months and also the time counts towards completion of their total military service obligation.

Further, they enlisted under the Marine Corps "Buddy program" which enables them to be assigned to the same Recruit Training Platoon at Parris Island, so they can undergo recruit training together. Following their recruit training at Parris Island, they will be scheduled for additional training at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Prior to joining the Marine Corps Ferraro graduated from Saugerties High School and attended Ulster County Community College while Michelson graduated from Huntington High School, Huntington, N. Y., and attended Hiram Scott College, Scotts Bluff, Nebraska, and Ulster County Community College.

Both Ferraro and Michelson enlisted for two years. They can expect to be home on leave in about 12 weeks.

An increase of 7.8 per cent is expected in prices paid dairy farmers for milk delivered to New York - New Jersey pool handlers in the first half of the year, it was announced today.

Dr. A. J. Pollard, market administrator, forecast an average uniform price of $5.37 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts) for the January-June period. This would be 39 cents higher than the average price paid in the first six months of 1968.

Prices should range from a high of $5.69 per hundredweight for January deliveries to $5.08 for May deliveries, Dr. Pollard said, and be higher than a year ago in all six months.

Ellenville Crusher

A Pressing Job Gets Underway

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

ELLENVILLE — The giant Texas auto crusher is here.

The portable machine, owned and operated by Nationwide Car Crusher of Dallas, rumbled through the streets of Ellenville last Friday and began operations late Saturday.

It is presently at August Hull's junk yard on Berme Road and is pressing old cars into flat rectangles of metal.

The crusher, with its hydraulic lifts is capable of exerting 750,000 pounds of pressure to the square inch.

Wawarsing Supervisor Frank W. Harkin said he was delighted that the machine was finally operating, ridding the township's countryside of hundreds of unused and inoperable cars.

Harkin had been informed by Rivan Krieger, of the Catskill Resort Association, Inc., of the machine's availability during last summer.

Harkin said that he immediately "thought in terms of a community effort to get the job done."

The supervisor made a public appeal to individuals and gas station owners to help aid in the process of collecting junk vehicles and bringing them to the Berme Road dump site.

The response, he admits, was less than enthusiastic.

Harkin told The Freeman that the portable crusher is only "phase one" of the operation that he hopes will rid Wawarsing of unsightly rusted hulks.

Phase two will begin at the town board meeting of Feb. 6, when the governing body will meet with William F. Koplik, owner of the Ellenville Scrap Iron Works, who said he would be willing to assist in further removal of the old wrecks.

Reportedly, Koplik has a stationary crusher which can serve the same purpose.

Supervisor Harkin said that phase three would be the enforcing of a 1960 town ordinance which calls for a maximum fine of $100 a day each day that two or more junk cars remain on a specific parcel of property.

Special

The nine-year-old ordinance pointed out the varied dangers of junk cars, such as being "highly inflammable, sometimes explosive" with all kinds of hazards such as gasoline, battery acid, sharp metal, and inflammable grease.

Harkin hopes that area residents will make use of the demolishing facilities before the ordinance is enforced.

A short history of the crusher's Ellenville trip shows that there were many barriers in the way of its eventual success.

First of all, another Texas company, with a similar crusher, arrived in Sullivan County during the summer and immediately ran into local trouble.

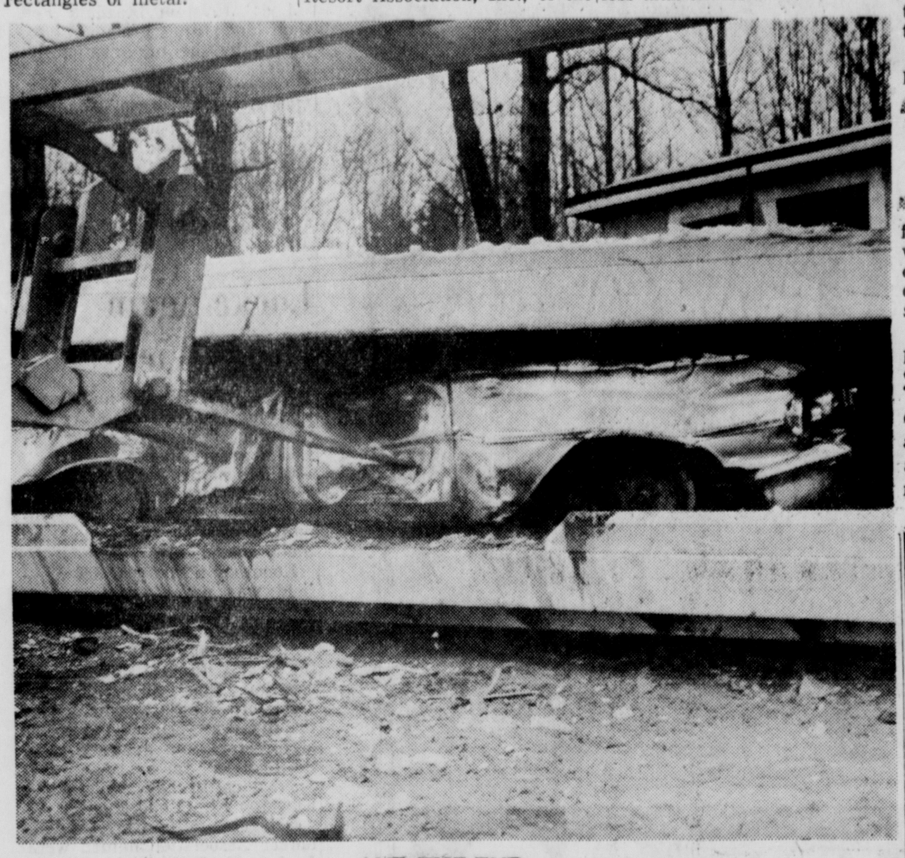

According to Krieger, secretary of the resort group, a number of Sullivan County residents wanted to get into the car crushing business and its was their opposition that finally led to the crusher going back to Texas.

Cost factors involved in the obtaining of equipment allegedly prevented the local residents from offering the service and the second firm, from Dallas, was called.

The first stop for the Dallas crusher was at the Sullivan County community of Bridgeville, and from there to Ellenville.

The operation begins with the car's upholstery being destroyed, then the gas tank and engine being removed before a fork lift carries the vehicle to the massive jaws of the machine.

In the space of a few minutes, the car is mashed into an unrecognizable slab of metal.

AND THE END.

THE BEGINNING . . . . . .

Old Statues In Rome Parks Losing Heads

Romans have been losing their heads.

The city's superintendant of antiquities reports that 15 old marble statues in city parks have been decapitated since 1962.

The big Villa Borghese Park in the center of Rome lost heads of a satyr, two Hermes statues, and half a dozen ancient consuls, senators, warriors and orators.

Not much can be done about it. The statues are scattered along miles of walks through parks and in odd nooks and corners of ancient Rome which are unguarded at night.

Authorities doubt if the beheading is the work of vandals or even souvenir hunters. They believe it's done by thieves specifically commissioned to supply antique statue fragments to a clandestine market.

Some heads eventually are recovered in and around Rome, decorating modern villas. The best fragments and most of the heads probably find their way into the hands of collectors abroad.

The beheaded statues are left standing—headless. They do not look particularly out of place that way.

What with the wear and tear of time, and the depredations of the early barbarians, Rome has many ancient statues as armless as the Venus de Milo and as headless as Winged Victory of Samothrace.

But one Rome newspaper, Il Messaggero, expressed some fears for the future.

"If this keeps up", the newspaper said, "The time will come soon when there won't be a personage in Rome — at least in marble— with a head on his shoulders."

STONE RIDGE — The Mid-Hudson Section of the American Society for Quality Control (ASQC) will sponsor a course in basic statistical quality control at Ulster County Community College starting Feb. 3, C. T. Tarr, education chairman of the section, announced recently.

Area industrial firms are expected to provide most of the students, but registration is open to all. Prospective students should report to Room 503 of the Algonquin building at the Stone Ridge campus Monday Feb. 3 between 7 and 7:30 p. m.

Robert W. Reip of Port Ewen will be the instructor. Reip, supervisor of industrial engineering at Hercules, Inc., has taught similar courses to Hercules employes for seven years. Bell Given Two Committee Assignments

ALBANY — Assemblyman H. Clark Bell received two committee assignments yesterday from Speaker Perry B. Duryea who also announced assembly chairmanships resulting from the GOP takeover in the November election.

One of Bell's assignments was one he sought. He was named to the Judiciary Committee headed by Edward Crawford of Oswego.

Bell's other assignment is to the Government Employes Committee which has S. William Rosenberg of Rochester as chairman.

Meanwhile, in the State Senate, Jay P. Rolison was renamed chairman of the Commerce and Navigation Committee, a post he wanted to retain.

Duryea, who represents Suffolk County in Long Island, selected half of the committee chairmen from downstate and half from upstate, with himself as chairman of the powerful Rules Committee.

Downstate chairmen will head such committees as: Banks, City of New York, Codes; Commerce, Industry and Economic Development, Corporations, Authorities and Commissions, Health, Housing and Insurance.

Upstate chairmen head the following committees: Agriculture, Education, Governmental Operations, Judiciary, Labor, Local Governments, Social Services and Transportation.

Veteran Assemblywoman Constance Cook of Ithaca, was mamed chairman of the Education Committee.

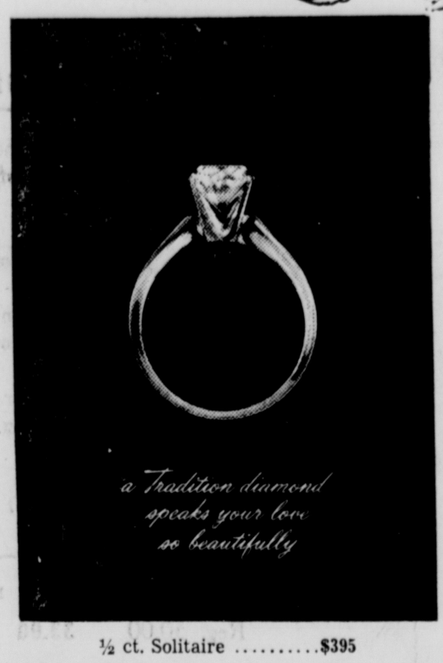

Among the more noteworthy assignments was that of Republican Willis H. Stephens who is following in his father's footsteps as chairman of the powerful Ways and Means Committee, prized for its potential influence on all spending measures.

Stephens, of Brewster, in Putnam County, now holds the same post his late father D. Mallory Stephens did from 1943 to 1952. He will be paid $18,000 for the chairmanship in addition to the $18,000 all Assemblyman receive in salary and allowances.

Advisory Dirty Word To Dems

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The term "Democratic Advisory Council" has become a dirty word to almost all Democrats.

This feeling is shared by Democrats who want a new policy-making voice for the party and those who don't. It grew out of the friction between the 1957-60 Democratic Advisory Council and the party leadership in Congress then headed by two strong men, the late Speaker Sam Rayburn and Lyndon B. Johnson, the Senate Majority Leader at that time.

There has been much discussion and argument about whether the party needs a new agency to speak for it. Those who argue that it does agree, however, that it should have a different name than the one which functioned at the end of the last Republican administration.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, "titular leader" of the party after the Nixon administration takes office, has suggested that the Democrats might think about a national party conference next year to prepare for the 1970 state and congressional elections.

Attendance Spotty

The Democratic National Committee held a conference of that type in Chicago in 1953, inviting Democratic members of Congress and governors. It was attended by some and spurned by others.

At the same time, the National Committee adopted a resolution rejecting a proposal for a 1954 special convention between the 1952 and 1956 presidential nominating conventions. It was said that existing state laws or party rules provided no machinery for the election of delegates.

After Dwight D. Eisenhower's second election to the White House in 1956, then Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler and his executive committee set up the advisory council, which periodically issued broad policy statements.

Former president Harry S. Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson, the twice-defeated presidential candidate, agreed to serve. Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, then newly elected party whip of the Senate, accepted and then withdrew because, on cue from Rayburn, the entire official leadership of the Democrats in Congress, declined invitations.

Humphrey Attended

Humphrey, who then held no official leadership role in the party, joined the committee as a senator from Minnesota.

Mansfield now counts himself among those who want no new version of the Democratic Advisory Council.

Traditionally, the congressional leadership of the party in opposition to the administration regards itself as the policy-making voice of the party. Republican congressional leaders resisted the creation of a more broadly based policy agency until after the GOP's 1964 election disaster and then agreed to formation of the Republican Coordinating Committee, which included former presidential nominees, governors and other party leaders outside Congress. But half of the members came from Congress.

A segment of the Democratic party wants a similar agency to generate more public exposure of the party's programs during a Republican administration. The subject is expected to be discussed, at least in private, during tomorrow's National Committee meeting. But no immediate decision is expected.

Meanwhile, the party leadership in Congress has in Senate Democratic Whip Edward M. Kennedy a party spokesman with glamor.

Six Arrested, Charged With Rape of Girl

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — Six boys, including three juveniles, were arrested Tuesday in connection with the mass rape of a 17-year old girl.

Three 16-year - olds were booked on charges of first degree rape. They were identified as Gary Steven Bessette, Frank Joseph Manzi Jr. and Patrick Christol, all of Syracuse.

Three 15-year-olds, not identified because of their age, were turned over to juvenile authorities.

Police said all six were involved in what one investigator called the "savage" attack on the girl in the city last Thursday night. The girl whose name was withheld, was hospitalized but later released.

First degree rape is a Class B felony under the New York State Penal Law and carries a maximum sentence, to be set by the court, of up to 25 years.

Bessette's address was given as 134 Chester St; Manzi's as 676 South Ave. and Christol's as 263 Rockland Ave.

Charged Corruption in Auto Inspection System

NEW YORK (UPI)—The private auto inspection system in New York State is "fraught with corruption," according to charges from a city official.

The official Monday backed state legislation setting up experimental state - operated inspection stations.

Acting Consumer Affairs Commissioner Joseph L. Forstadt said a study by his department showed that half of the's motorists get inspection stickers without having their automobiles inspected every year.

The study resulted from interviews with 50 motorists.

Under the present system, the inspection is done by a private garage or automotive shop, which is permitted to charge a $3 fee for the service. Forstadt said that during the survey his staff members heard from motorists that half of them pay a fee and get a sticker without having their cars inspected.

The fees they pay range from the legal $3 to $10.

Forstadt said there are two advantages to the motorist in having the garage operator skip the inspection. First, he said, when garages actually make an inspection they often tell the motorist unnecessary work has to be done and charge him for doing the work.

Forstadt said the other advantage to the motorist who usually has to leave it in the garage for several hours. He said garage owners take their time about getting around to inspections since they make more money doing other work.

Forstadt wrote a letter to State Sen. Edward J. Speno, R-East Meadow, backing legislation Speno has introduced to establish state-operated inspection stations on an experimental basis.

Forstadt said: "The existence of widespread frauds in this field undermines the whole concept of auto safety that the inspection system was designed to strengthen."

New Paltz State Students Displaying Silver, Jewelry

NEW PALTZ — A collection of 35 pieces of silver and jewelry crafted by students at the State University College has been placed on exhibition in New York City at the Loeb Student Center of New York University's Washington Square campus.

The exhibit, the first invitational group show in New York City by New Paltz Students, will be on view until Feb. 17.

The work was created as part of regular classwork under art professors Kurt Matzdorf and Susan Wisherd of the college faculty.

Among students whose works are on exhibit are Margaret Tashiro — a wine cup, necklace, a bowl of repoussi, two rings, and a pin; Lynn Peterson — a bracelet, baby-spoon, and box with lapis lazuli; Irving Salisbury — a wine cup and pair of cuff links with turquoise; Louise Verspohl — a pair of candelabra and necklace with tiger eye and ebony; James McCabe — tankard in sterling and rosewood.

Among the outstanding holloware exhibitors are Robert Mahoney — chalice and salt and pepper shakers; Gretchen Klunder — creamer in sterling and rosewood; Corrine Pauleou — sterling bowl with rosewood inserts.

A pair of sterling wedding cups by Linda Sisto and a wine cup by Dana Tucci show a unique approach. Other works include a boy in sterling and rosewood by William Schmidt, one box with a piece of coral by Nancy Covalli and one with an enamelled lid by Susan April who also shows a cast steriing ring with a synthetic ruby.

Rings are also shown by Mary Coiteaux, Stephen Curran and Barbara Becker.

Antipoverty Leader Raps Times' Mismanagement

NEW YORK (AP) — The city's head of antipoverty programs said Tuesday recent stories by the New York Times alleging mismanagement of his agency have been distortions.

Human Resources Administrator Mitchell I. Ginsberg said the three articles on the program's administrative woes have been "completely exaggerated."

The stories have reported that gross mismanagement has sapped millions of dollars from funds intended for the city' poor and that the federal government has given the HRA a six-month deadline to clean house.

Tuesday's article reported that the Office of Economic Opoprtunity had withdrawn $3 million from the HRA and given the money directly to three local hospitals "because of 'apparent mismanagement.'"

"The fact is," Ginsberg said, "the OEO has asked us to take on more fiscal responsibility than before and the direct payment of the money ($3 million) was done to speed up the financial processes."

A written statement issued by the HRA said another reason for the direct payment was the hospitals' desire to bypass provisions requiring the involvement of the community in developing programs.

Ginsberg admitted to mistakes in the program—one of them being the misappropriation of $1.5 million of funds by the Neighborhood Youth Corps during 1967-1968.

He said reforms would be made but added that any changes would be initiated by the HRA investigative team not by the federal government."

"I'm more outraged than embarrassed by these Times' inuendos," Ginsberg said, "but I wish we had run a better program."

Fire Sweeps Trailer Home

WINGDALE — A young mother, whose husband is in service in Vietnam, and her two children, were made homeless today when fire swept through their trailer home on Cedar Lane in this eastern Dutchess County community.

Fire officials said that Mrs. Nora Bouford and her children had left their home Monday night, because of a malfunction of the furnace. They went to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mayette on Lake Ellis road to spend the night.

Shortly after 4 a.m. today, fire units in command of Chief John Busa of the Dover-Wingdale Fire company, were dispatched to the Bouford home after neighbors reported the structure was in flames. When firemen arrived they found the blaze racing through the trailer home.

The interior of the building and its furnishings were totally destroyed, according to Fire Chief Busa, who said the malfunctioning furnace apparently caused the fire.

According to reports, the Bouford family will probably remain at the home of her parents until another residence is obtained. The Boufords lost all of their personal belongings in the blaze

Presidential Pay Increases Higher Than Official Guidelines

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first major wage settlement of the year—a presidential pay increase—is now in. Let's see how it worked out in terms of the latest official wage guidelines.

These were laid down on Dec. 31 by President Johnson's cabinet committee on wage and price stability, set up several months ago when it looked like inflation might go through the roof.

Since then inflation increased and the committee said it is time to clamp on some new kind of ceiling.

"Mutual short term sacrifices are needed, to protect the great long term interest of business, labor and all Americans in non-inflationary prosperity," the committee announced.

For their part, wage earners were asked to forego pay raises during the year in excess of "a little below 5 per cent." Management, the committee said, should absorb some of its cost increases, instead of just passing them along to the customers in higher prices.

"Voluntary restraint," the committee said, was the key to success in this new anti-inflation attempt.

President Johnson didn't specifically endorse the report of his cabinet committee. And President-elect Richard M. Nixon of course, wasn't asked to. But it did turn out that the President's pay was open for negotiation just at this time.

Are Airlines Less Safe Now?

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- An Allegheny Airlines propjet easing down toward a landing at a Bradford, Pa., airport on Christmas Eve slammed into a mountainside.

Twenty persons died.

Two weeks later another pilot for Allegheny flying the same model Convair 580 propjet into the same airport crashed.

Eleven persons died.

In between the two tragedies was yet another. A North Central Airlines Convair 580 landing at Chicago's O'Hare Field Dec. 27 suddenly veered off course, and smashed into a hangar.

Twenty eight persons died.

On Dec. 2, a Wien Consolidated F27 crashed into an ice covered lake in Alaska.

Thirty eight persons died.

In sum, four airline accidents in 36 days claimed 97 lives. In the last 13 months there were 16 accidents, and a total of 362 deaths, the highest airline death toll since 1960.

Why are airlines less safe now? Does disaster run in cycles? Is it an airport problem? Congestion? Pilot error?

The National Transportation Safety Board, whose job is to find the causes for airline accidents, sees no new trend.

The Air Transport Association, the trade organization for the scheduled airlines, is justifiably proud of the fact that in 1968 the airlines will have flown some 114 billion passenger miles. This puts the airline fatality rate at less than one death per 400 million passenger miles.

Where, then, is the problem? Safety experts agree that weather still is the key factor in most airline crashes. For example, they point out that weather was involved to some extent in the last four airline crashes. A survey conducted by the safety board for 1965 showed this kind of a breakdown on accident causes:

Weather, 24 per cent, personnel, 20 per cent (this figure includes both maintenance men and management personnel who are responsible for operational procedures); pilot error, 18 per cent; copilot connected error, 3 per cent; power plant failure, 7 per cent; airport and airways facilities, 5 per cent; landing gear problems, 9 per cent; electrical and hydraulic failure, 7 per cent; all others, 7 per cent.

Many of the commonly-voiced opinions by laymen on accidents fail to hold up under examinations. for example, mountainous areas were once believed to have more accidents. Not so, according to statistics. Nor are there more accidents in the winter than in the summer even though weather is a factor in accidents.

Then there are always those who tend to blame fate for tragedies, claiming they run in cycles.

Edward Slattery, a spokesman for the safety board, terms this idea nonsense.

AMERICAN FIREMEN—This lithograph, "Facing The Enemy", is one of five Currier and Ives prints on display in the second floor courtroom of the Ellenville Municipal Building. The American Fireman series was completed by the famous lithographers in 1858, and the originals hung in the district clerk's office of the Southern (Judicial) District of New York in New York City. Although the Ellenville lithographs appear to be originals, it is not known when the village received the prints. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Grandmother Heads Vietnam Committee

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—When her son enlisted in the armed forces at the start of World War II. Mrs. Ada Bisno made a sacred promise.

She's still keeping it, more than 27 years later.

The blue-eyed grandmother is the dynamo director of the Los Angeles Women's Vietnam Committee, which sends about 8,000 United Service Organization (USO) "comfort kits" each year to men in the Vietnamese war zones.

"My son enlisted the day after Pearl Harbor," says Mrs. Bisno. "In four years, I saw him once for five days. We lived in Chicago then and I started spending all my waking hours working for the USO. I promised God that if my son came home alive I'd work for the USO all my life. When we moved to Los Angeles, I looked for the USO before I looked for a house."

"You know I don't approve of this war either," says Mrs. Bisno, "but that doesn't mean I think we should neglect our boys.

"I have made this a personal mission," she adds. "I send personal letters to various women's groups and sisterhoods, and to my own friends. So many people want to help, but they need direction. It's easy to raise the money."

Without the money, Mrs. Bisno buys items coveted by soldiers on the front lines, miles of steamy jungle away from a PX.

"You know once they drop their cigarettes in the water or run out of toothpaste, they're out of luck," she said.

She knows what they need because she keeps up a steady correspondence with both enlisted men and officers. Recently she received a letter from Gen. Creighton Abrams, chockful of suggestions for such items as pocket knives (all fruit must be peeled), metal mirrors because the men can't carry glass, plastic inflatable pillows to use when bed is the grass, rubber combs and razor blades.

"One of the most important items in the package is Kool-aid," according to Mrs. Bisno. "The boys tell me the water tastes so bad they don't like to think about where it came from. And they all have athlete's foot, because it is so damp. I send foot powder, and an anti-itch preparation."

Three times a year Mrs. Bisno and members of her committee package the items she's purchased or which have been donated and ship them to Vietnam.

Each bag, tied with a bright bow, contains 21 items, including extra plastic bags to keep possessions dry, plastic-coated playing cards, a paperback book, cigarettes in a waterproof box, a chocolate bar "which travels well", tiny sewing kits, toothpaste, toothbrush, clean socks, handerchiefs, a bar of soap, shaving cream, and chewing gum. The total cost per bag is less than $1.50.

"I make sure the soap doesn't have a scent," Mrs. Bisno explained. "Because we discovered the Viet Cong can smell it if they wear anything perfumed."

"You just ought to see the wonderful letters I get back from these boys. They always call me Ada, and sometimes they send me a kiss. They say, 'how did you know we needed little flashlights, but the ememy can spot the reflection."

The Louisville, Ky. native speaks to women's groups and appears on television talk shows, hoping to interest other groups in setting up similar programs.

"My husband, Jules, tells me I talk too much about my work. When we go to social functions, I table hop, telling everyone about it. Maybe some people think I'm a bore, but so what? I'm doing something which requires money."

"I'm 67 years old, but I don't feel it," she continued. "My doctor says, 'Ada, I ought to tell you to stop doing so much, but I know you won't.' And he's right."

In April, Mrs. Bisno expects to make her first visit to Vietnam. She had planned to go last spring, but had to cancel the trip because of the Tet offensive.

Missing Alarm Is Canceled

WALDEN — A 13-state missing person's alarm sent for a missing 15-year-old girl resident of this Orange county community, has been cancelled.

Village police said today that Adelia Lillian Rhodes, who was reported missing by her aunt, Mrs. Betty Davidson from the latter's home since early Sunday, returned to the residence at 2:30 a.m. today.

Police reported the girl, who reportedly became engaged during the Christmas holidays to 19-year-old Donald P. Pangia of this community, was reported all right when she went back to the Davidson home. Police said they hadn't had time to inteview the girl since she returned.

It was reported earlier that Miss Rhodes, the daughter of Gerald E. Rhodes of Wallkill, had a minor argument with her aunt the night before she walked out of the Davidson home.

N. Mexico Pecan Crop

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — The New Mexico Farm and Ranch Magazine predicts that pecans will become a major crop in southern New Mexico within the next two years.

The magazine says there are about 4,200 acres of pecan trees in Dona Ana County and from these trees an estimated 12 million pounds of nuts are expected this season.

On the basis of new plantings, growers expect from 7,200 to 7,500 acres of pecan trees by 1970.

One grower, Stahmann Farms, near Las Cruces, already has about 200,000 trees on 4,000 acres.

Under existing law, widows of U.S. presidents are entitled to a pension of $10,000 a year.

LUNG DISEASE UNIT — Checking the working of Pulmonary Disease Unit are (L) Mrs. Jean H. Van Dusen, Mrs. Rose Baum Kraut, Dr. Lawrence E. Young and Dr. Nolan L. Kaltreider. The "patient" is not identified.

Local Seal Funds Aid Professorship

John M. Robbins, president of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, has announced that Christmas Seal contributions will make possible a full-time professorship in lung diseases at the University of Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry. Robbins pointed out that the first installment on $16,000 per year in support of the professorship was recently presented to the University by Rose Baum Kraut of Poughkeepsie, president of the New York State Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, the state affiliate of the Ulster County TB group.

Dr. Lawrence E. Young, chairman of the Department of Medicine and Dr. Nolan Kaltreider, acting head of the Department's Pulmonary Disease Unit, accepted the grant from Mrs. Kraut. The Monroe County Chapter of the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association was represented by its chairman, Mrs. Jean H. VanDusen.

"Our Ulster County TB and Health Association has shared directly in making possible this vital lung-disease professorship" Robbins added. "Our Ulster County group provided a $500 grant for the establishment of the professorship. We are one of the several TB-RD Associations across New York State supporting this program because of the rapidly increasing incidence of lung diseases like asthma and emphysema.

"We want further to point out that support from the TB Association will enable the school to continue developing its respiratory disease program as a district unit within the Department of Medicine, and to appoint a permanent director of the unit," Robbins explained. "Previously it has been part of a combined heart and respiratory disease program," he said. Robbins was joined in comment on this program by Association President Emeritus Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., also Ulster County Christmas Seal chairman. They noted that the grant to the project had been a board decision, and that the program would have the continued interest of the TB-RD group here.

The University's Dr. Young, in commenting on the professorship said, "We are extremely pleased to have received a commitment of $16,000 per year for the next five years from the local, state, and national TB-RD Associations. It will assist us in the development of collaborative arrangements for patient care, education and research with other units and departments of the Medical School, as well as with the community hospitals in the region. Prospects for cooperative arrangements in the study and treatment of pulmonary disease in this part of New York State are exceptionally good."

"Working with Dr. Kaltreider in this planning have been Dr. Kuddusi Gazioglu and Dr. Peter Perkins at Strong Memorial Hospital, Dr. Michael Finigan at the Genesee Hospital, Dr. Irwin Karron at Rochester General Hospital, Dr. Frank W. Lovejoy Jr. at Highland Hospital, Dr. George Swalbach at the Monroe County Health Department, Dr. Charles Matthews at St. Mary's Hospital and Dr. Frank Armstrong at the Mount Morris Tuberculosis Hospital."

The local TB-RD Christmas Seal group also has designated a local grant to the state-level Central Fund for TB and Respiratory Disease Medical, Education and Research as a further element of its total education and research program involvement, Robbins concluded.

Ellenville Man Head

Ambulance Group Will Install

By WALTER S. CLARK

NAPANOCH — Installation of newly elected officers of the Ulster County Ambulance Association is scheduled in February at Wenig's Restaurant in Napanoch, according to retiring president, Gilbert E. Gray, who has served in that office since the inception of the unit two years ago.

Burkhouse President

Officers for 1969 are: Thomas Burkhouse, Ellenville Rescue Squad, president; Seymour Pach, Kerhonkson-Accord First Aid Squad, vice president; Mrs. Harriet Weber, Marbletown First Aid Squad, secretary, and Clifton Jones, Saugerties Ambulance Service, treasurer.

At the recent meeting it was reported that a class of 23 graduated from the new Emergency Medical Technician course that was set up at the Ulster County Community College, with the cooperation of the Ambulance Association, the Ulster County Medical Society, Hospitals and other organizations who donated their time and effort to training the ambulance personnel.

The Ulster County Ambulance Association was organized to improve and maintain high quality ambulance service in the county, and to promote better cooperation among all ambulance services operatin in area communities. Many needed improvements have been made to assure residents of the county the best possible service in case of an emergency.

It was noted that all ambulance services, members of the county association, are now operating with medical emergency technicians both as drivers and attendants. Ulster County is the only county in New York State that has all ambulance men trained in this field, according to Gray.

According to a report of Gray, many ideas used by the county association in their training have been adopted by the New York State Health Department for use in other training courses. Association members may be identified by shoulder patches and the new Blue Medical Emergency breast patch.

Among other matters discussed at the meeting was the radio communication systems, and it was noted that every member ambulance service is now equipped with a two-way radio that can readily be put into service to notify hospitals of the condition of a patient that is being transported by ambulance to the hospital.

In the case of a heart attack, the ambulance driver radios a call to the hospital to alert the staff so that everything will be in readiness for use when the patient arrives.

"Many lives already have been saved through the use of this procedure," Gray said.

The county association is made up of the following units: the West Hurley Rescue Squad, Doctors Ambulance Service of Kingston, the Marbletown First Aid and Rescue Squad, Saugerties Ambulance Service, the Shandaken Community Ambulance Service, the Accord-Kerhonkson First Aid and Rescue Squad, the Ellenville Rescue, the Plattekill First Aid and Rescue Squad and the Wallkill Valley First Aid Squad.

Legislature's Health Commission To Recommend Easing Abort Law

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The legislature's study commission on health has decided to sponsor a bill to liberalize New York's abortion law, its chairman reported Tesday.

Sen. Norman F. Lent, R-East Rockaway, said his Joint Legislative Committee on Public Health agreed at a meeting Monday night to recommend a measure to the legslature by March 31.

Lent said the committee would make its own investigation of the issue and conduct public hearings. He said they would be held in Feburary, on dates to be set, in Albany, Rochester and New York City.

"The time has now come for a change in our abortion laws," Lent said. 'The question is not whether we will recommend a bill but what form the bill will take."

Under the present, 86-year-old law, abortions may be performed legally in this state only if it can be shown that the mother's life is in danger. Attempts to enlarge the grounds in recent years have met with no success in the legislature.

Lent maintained, however, that resistance to change has been dissipating and that 'the climate in the legislature is for change this year."

He noted that both Gov. Rockefeller and the Assembly's new speaker, Perry B. Duryea Jr., have spoken out for revision of the law. The Senate's Republican majority leader, Earl W. Brydges, has been a formidable opponent of change, while saying that he has an open mind on the subject.

Duryea said in a radio-television interview that he believed abortions should be permitted when pregnancy is caused by rape or incest or when the pregnant woman is mentally defective.

"Maybe more than that," he added in asserting that the law "should be expanded substantially."

But Brydges noted that he had used the same language in describing his position last year. At that time he let it be known that he was firmly opposed to any revision in the law and would do his utmost to prevent Senate action if the Assembly should vote for a change. The 1968 Assembly rejected a more liberal standard.

"Remember," said Brydges, "I asked, 'Where do we put the next bench mark?'"

The phrase is lawyer's terminology, used to question where a halt should be called on liberalization of accepted limitations—once a single change has been accepted.

When a reporter suggested to Duryea that he and Brydges were at odds on the issue, the speaker grinned and replied, "I don't think it's a serious clash between us."

Duryea said that, while he believed in relaxing the law, sharing a view espoused by Gov. Rockefeller, he did not intend to press personally for a change—to the extent of sponsoring legislation himself.

But he indicated that he was prepared to permit an abortion-reform bill to be brought before his house for a vote. Persons close to Brydges said the Senate leader was not.

The Assembly completed organization of its committee structure and second-echelon leadership, with a series of appointments announced by Duryea and Democratic Minority Leader Stanley Steingut.

Choice of Assignment

As expected, Duryea gave the choicest committee assignment, chairman of Ways and Means, to Assemblyman Willis H. Stephens of Brewster, Putnam County. Stephens' father, the late D. Mallory Stephens, had held the same post from 1943 to 1952.

In addition, Duryea designated Assemblyman James L. Emery of Geneseo as deputy majority leader and Donald J. Mitchell of Herkimer as majority whip.

Steingut named Albert H. Blumenthal, a "reform" Democrat from Manhattan, as deputy minority leader and John B. Lis of Buffalo as minority whip.

Duryea said in his interview that he doubted the legislature would approve any further tax increases if it accepted Rockefeller's proposal to raise the state sales tax from two to three per cent.

Specifically he minimized the possibility of adopting two income tax changes that have been discussed—abolishing the $10 and $25 "credits" that taxpayers now are allowed to subtract from the final amount due and doing away with the maximum $300 deduction for life insurance payments.

Late Monticello Drive Stuns Kingston, 52-50

"It had to happen," commented Kingston High School basketball coach Jack Gilligan. Sooner or later it had to happen. You just can't keep wasting a big lead and then coming on in the last few minutes to win. The percentages are against it."

The honeymoon is over for the "Cardiac Kids." The heart attack happened at Monticello last night when Coach Bucky Roche's Panthers ripped off 11 straight points in the closing minutes of the fourth period to knock Kingston out of the top spot in he DUSO league, 52-50.

Arteriosclerosis

To call it an upset would be an utter waste of the word. The New York Jets were given better odds to cop the Super Bowl than Monticello was to beat Kingston. The Panthers were in third place in the League (and not figured to move any higher), which is a loop that was set up so that the smaller schools could compete against teams in their own class.

They had lost to Liberty, a team that Middletown beat handily, and Ellenville, and had beaten only Fallsburg in league play. And they were down with about five minutes left to play when "it happened."

A bucket by Steve Dorfman and a three point play from Gene Walker dropped the margin to four points as the Maroons went into a full court press with a little less than four minutes left in the game. It held, but Kingston was still unable to find the range.

Tie Game

Marty Levy's layup following a steal cut the deficit to two points, and, with the Maroons surprisingly unable to put their tremendous height advantage to good use, Walker popped to tie the score.

Roche called time when the Monties got the ball back with 1:01 still showing on the scoreboard clock, and he sent his quintet back on the court in a three man weave to stall for time. With 14 seconds left, he asked for time again and called a set play that saw Dorfman drive for what would have been the final basket of the game.

Two for Two

Ted Wood fouled him on the way, with two seconds left. and Dorfman converted both shots in the one and one situation. Ken Gilligan got off the final shot for Kingston, a halfcourt heave that hit the rafters.

"They were flat," Gilligan said. "They had the advantage and they just didn't take it. It was not a good team effort."

The Maroons completely dominated the boards, pulling down 54 rebounds. Half of them were off their own shots. They took 73 shots, and they hit on 22 of them. They were awarded 21 foul shots and they converted six of them.

Wood came down with 24 rebounds and Gene Bruno had 20, which is not the type of statistic you normally find on the losing side. But the Maroons shot only 30 per cent from the floor and missed 15 of 21 foul shots, and that type of performance you would expect.

Third Quarter Surge

Kingston trailed by two points at the end of the first quarter, and the Panthers held that margin when the halftime buzzer sounded. The Maroons came up with 19 points in the third quarter, the only period in which they showed some of their previous form, to take a six point lead going into the final frame.

They scored eight points in the first three minutes of the fourth quarter, increasing their lead to nine—and then the roof fell in.

Evens Slate

The loss evens Kingston's DUSO League record at 1-1 and drops the Maroons into third place behind Monticello and Newburgh who are both 1-0.

Newburgh. It had been thought that the Goldbacks were the only stumbling block between the Maroons and their third straight loop crown, and with Mickey Burkowski bringing his squad into the Kate Walton Field House Friday night it is a fairly good bet that the Maroons were not thinking only about Monticello—even during the game.

And with Newburgh winning its initial loop game, 96-39 (oooh, it hurts) over Port Jervis last night, they might be better off trying to forget.—CARO

Admirals, Pioneers Win DCSL Tilts

SAUGERTIES — "We're getting closer," said a philsophical Coach Bud Smith after his Saugerties High school Sawyers had dropped a 63-60 DCSL backbreaker to Arlington High in a rugged fourth period finish Tuesday night.

The setback was the sixth straight for the hard fighting Sawyers, who are 0-5 in the Dutchess County Scholastic League and are still seeking their first win of the season.

Two free throws by Buddy Rottinger actually closed it out at 63-60 after a pair of free throws by Roger Praetorius had brought the Sawyers to within a point (61-60) of the Admirals.

The Sawyers managed to get off one wild shot just before the final whistle but it failed.

Arlington moved to a 38-29 halftime lead with a 22-15 second period bulge but the Sawyers rallied to knot the count at 41-41 with 3:43 left and squeezed to a 49-48 third period lead, after grinding out a 20-10 edge for the period.

The lead changed hands several times with Arlington going ahead to stay 59-58 with 2:57 remaining on a basket by Dave Dellos.

"Their stiff zone press and some key steals enabled Arlington to dominate the first half," said Smith.

Praetorius led the Sawyers with 19 points and Bill Renham pocketed 14. Dellos and Mark Hinsch potted 17 apiece for the winners.

The Sawyers travel to Beacon for a DCSL contest Friday night.

The Saugerties Jayvees trounced Arlington 38-27 for their fourth win in six starts. Jerry Malgieri led with 12 points and Stan Rosenberger added nine. Pete Wilkinson had 10 for Arlington.

Poughkeepsie kept its place on top of the DCSL heap by edging Roy C. Ketcham High School of Wappingers Falls, 70-63, but the twice beaten Pioneers did it the hard way.

There was a total of 60 fouls committed in the two hour plus marathon, and six Pioneers left the game via the personal route leaving coach Bill Maher with only four men on the court for the last seven seconds of play.

Joey Johnson tallied 20 points for Poughkeepsie before leaving the game for the second straight night and Ed Bonnett had a game high total of 21 for Ketcham.

In other league action, Roosevelt upset Our Lady of Lourdes by outscoring the Warriors 4-2 in overtime for a 45-43 finish and Beacon downed Cardinal Farley Military Academy 77-54.

Rondout Roughs Up Marlboro, 74-59

STONE RIDGE—Rondout Valley Ganders projected themselves into the UCAL pennant race with a decisive 74-59 victory over Marlboro Central in a battle of the runnersup here Tuesday night.

A 23-point first period blitz in which they hit 74 per cent from the field moved Coach Chick Meehan's squad into second place in the UCAL and shunted the Dukes into third. They were tied with 4-1 league records going into the game.

John Meehan Jr., who scored 20 points, led the Gander's opening surge with 8 points and Larry Baney and Pete Koola, the game's top scorer with 23 points, contributed six each.

The Dukes stayed within five points of the Ganders in the first period (23-18) on the strength of seven points by Jeff Greiner and five by Dan Marsh, the two big guns for the losers. Greiner finished with 22 points and Marsh with 17.

A couple of Rondout's lesser lights—Jim Rowe and Jay Spiegel—accounted for 12 of the 18 second period points which put Rondout ahead 39-26 at the half and broke the game open. The Dukes, trailing 58-38, managed to outscore Rondout 21-16 while Coach Meehan let the reserves romp in the fourth quarter.

"We were out-rebounded," said Coach Meehan, "but got the points when we needed them," indicating that was the only flaw—and a slight one—in the Rondout victory. Pete Koola picked off 14 rebounds and Baney had nine.

Greiner led the Dukes off the board with 13 rebounds and Marsh netted 10 in a well-balanced team effort.

Actually, rebounds for the Ganders were sort of superfluous. Rondouts big edge was in the shooting percentage department, where Meehan's squad connected on 31 of 60 attempts for a cool .510 field goal average.

Marlboro's slightly below par 22-56 wasn't even in the same class.

The Dukes' junior varsity copped the preliminary, 34-28.

Rondout, which hosts Wallkill Friday, is now 7-1 on the season and 5-1 in league play. Marlboro is 4-2 in the UCAL, 5-5 overall, and takes on New Paltz Friday at home.

Liberty Blasts Coleman, 73-50

LIBERTY — The Liberty High School basketball team rolled over John A. Coleman, 73-50 Tuesday night, cruising to a 19 point lead at the half and coasting the rest of the way home.

John Small picked up 16 points to pace a balanced Indian attack that saw all but one of the Liberty players break into the scoring column.

Greg Wrenn led the Coleman scorers with 15 points on six field goals and three foul shots.

Red Hook Topples Onteora

RED HOOK — "It was just one of those nights," commented Onteora High School basketball coach Rod Patrick. 'We got a lot of shots — good ones — but the ball just wasn't going in.

Onteora was held to just three points in the second quarter, here Tuesday night, and Pete Lawsons Red Hook Raiders used the nine point margin they garnered in that frame to hold off the previously unbeaten Indians 50-46.

'They just played better defense than they did the first time (when Onteora broke the game open in the fourth quarter for a 51-39 opening night victory). They adjusted real well to our patterns in the second period and they were boxing us out under the boards.

The second quarter was the only period the Raiders held a significant advantage off the boards, Patrick said. "In addition to taking away the second shot," he added, "they shut off some of our patterns and we had to make some adjustments."

"We were playing catchup ball and forcing the situation."

The Indians held a 13-11 lead at the end of the first quarter, but saw the margin disappear for good in the second. Although Onteora outscored Red Hook 16-12 in the third stanza and 14-13 in the final frame, they never came closer than three points.

Onteora pretty much controlled the boards in the second half, Patrick said, getting three and four shots at a time, but the hoop continued to be unfriendly.

Currently leading the pack in the Hudson Division of the Dutchess County Scholastic League, Red Hook is now 6-2 on the season with only an as yet unavenged loss to Rondout Valley to mar the slate.

Onteora, 6-0 and holding down the top spot in the Ulster County Athletic League, is now 8-1 on the year.

Marty Gahan led the Indian scorers with 19, and Ralph Cort and Bill Barringer had 18 apiece for the Raiders.

Onteora won the junior varsity preliminary, 39-29.

Ellenville Edges Highland With Eleventh Hour Burst

ELLENVILLE — Down six points with less than two minutes left in the game, the Ellenville High School basketball team ran wild for a 12-2 scoring spree that took it roaring past Highland, 77-73 in a non-league contest Tuesday night.

The Blue Devils, who have now won five of their last six ballgames to boost their overall record to 5-4, had increased their six point first quarter lead to seven at the half before the Highlanders staged a strong rush to take the lead.

Sparked by the hot hands of Lee Barrington, who has been nothing short of sensational for the Highlanders this year, and Rich Sears, Lem Atkins quintet outscored the Ellies 24-13 in the third stanza and 12-10 in the first six minutes of the fourth for what looked like a commanding advantage.

Tom Mansell scored 23 points for Ellenville, Joe Wynkoop added 22 and Al Mandeville notched 20. Wynkoop and Al Abel each were credited with 10 rebounds and Mandeville tallied seven assists.

Barrington's 23 points was high for Highland, Sears picked up 20 and John Crawford had 16.

Ellenville's junior varsity, paced by an 18 point effort from Larry Blossom, won the preliminary contest 40-32.

Burke Trips NP In Final Frame

GOSHEN — Joe Dombroski and Bob Newhard combined for 18 of 21 points in the fourth uarter, Tuesday night, as John S. Burke Catholic High School swept past New Paltz 58-49.

A see-saw battle for the first three periods, the contest saw the Huguenots take a five point lead at the end of the first stanza and the Eagles come back to hold the same advantage at the half.

Burke managed only six points (Dombroski had five of them) against the tough New Paltz zone in the third uarter and the score was knotted at 38 going into the final period of play.

Dane Barr, who paced the Huguenots with a season high of 21 points, scored eight of their 11 point total in the second quarter and seven out of 11 in the third but managed only a foul shot in that final period.

Burke's junior varsity took the preliminary, 56-35, despite a game high 18 point performance from New Paltz's Larry Schiller.

Philadelphia Textile Rips Hawks, 85-51

By DENNIS R. CARO
(Freeman Sports Staff)

NEW PALTZ—It was the kind of game that makes you wonder—wonder what the State University, New Paltz basketball team was doing on the same court with the Philadelphia College of Textiles and Science.

"I sometimes wonder why we schedule them," mused Hawk coach Doug Sheppard (who grew up in Philadelphia, played ball there, considers it the best basketball town in the country and if he's not sure for certain, no one else is).

"Actually," he went one, "it's good for my boys to play a team like this. It puts the rest of the teams we play in a proper perspective."

To put it mildly, Textile is a GOOD ball club. To put it another way, coach Herb McGee's Rams are consistently nationally ranked among small colleges and came into New Paltz boasting a 7-3 season mark and a strong win over powerful Maryland State in their last outing.

And to put it even a third way, the score at the half last night was 46-18, and one got the impression that the Rams weren't really trying very hard.

"They're going to come out in a full-court press," Sheppard said before the game, "and if we can work against it and force them back into a normal zone I think we can stay with them. One thing is sure, we're not going to try and run with them."

McGee went to the press with about six minutes gone in the half and the Hawks, who were controlling the ball and working for the good shot, actually holding a slight 6-5 advantage.

Nine times Textile guards Fran Murphy and Mike O'Rourke stole the ball as the Hawks were bringing it upcourt, holding New Paltz to three points in the next eight minutes and ripping off one string of 18 straight points, as the Rams proved they didn't need anybody to run with them. They could do all the running they wanted to all by themselves.

New Paltz played the Rams on fairly even terms in the second half, allowing the deficit to rise only two points before both coaches went to the bench to produce the final 85-51 score.

But the game was not without its bright spots. Bob Freer, Sheppard's senior center who has been spending the season on the bench with a hairline foot fracture, saw action for the first time, and although he is really not in playing shape yet he should provide the life the Hawks need to close out the season on a winning note.

Freer, who hails from Port Ewen, is a proficient ballhandler, a rapidly improving shooter and a much more realistic threat off the boards than his substitute sophomore Steve Dane. And if he had been able to play from the beginning, Sheppard said, the Hawks could well have been 9-0 going into last night's game instead of 2-8 coming out of it.

The other bright spot was a beautiful 22 point performance from guard Pete Kane, who although the prime victim of the Textile ballhawks (because he handles the ball more than anyone else on the New Paltz squad) remained cool and consistently worked for the good shot.

The Hawks are next faced with the prospect of a two week layoff for final exams and intercession before meeting Plattsburgh on Februray 1. The game will be played in the High School gymnasium because the college court must be used for registration.

Zeeh in Semi-Finals Of Hopewell Tennis

HOPEWELL JUNCTION — Fourth seeded Pete Zeeh of Kingston eliminated unseeded Gary VanderVeer of Poughkeepsie in straight sets, 6-3, 6-0, to reach the semi-final round of the Dr. Simon Memorial Tournament.

But the going may be a little tougher for the Ulster County champion in the semis where he meets top-seeded Dave Bonner of Poughkeepsie, the tournament favorite. Bonner is a nationally ranked player.

East Beats West, 124-112

Guerin Called Shot On Eastern Guards

By STEVE MORROW

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Richie Guerin, coach of the losing Western Division team, told the story of the 19th annual NBA All-Star game before it was played.

"With (Oscar) Robertson and (Earl) Monroe starting, the East has more firepower at guard than we do," he said. "If we can hold their guards to 25 points (between them) instead of 45, we can win."

Oscar scored 24 points, Earl scored 21, Oscar collected the MVP trophy, and the East won the game, 124-112.

Robertson has now played in nine All-Star games in nine years, won three MVP awards, and only been on a losing side once. Thanks largely to him, the East, where Cincinnati has been placed in most of his career, has a 13-6 edge in the series.

"It was a good unit effort," he said. "I'm happy to win the MVP award, and glad we were able to win."

Each coach Gene Shue, of the host team Baltimore Bullets, used Robertson and Monroe together consistently only in the first quarter and the end of the last quarter. At the end of the first quarter, the East had a 35-19 point lead.

In the last quarter, Robertson came off the bench to join Monroe. The West led 96-94, but Robertson scored on a couple of three-point plays, stole some passes, and the East ran away with the game.

Earlier in the quarter, Monroe scored five straight points, and he contributed a couple of spectacular plays to keep the East ahead once Robertson sparked the East to a lead.

He rifled a pass the length of the floor to fast breaking Baltimore teammate Gus Johnson, and took a similar pass from Philadelphia's Bill Cunningham.

Other solid contributers for the East were Baltimore rookie center Westley Unseld, who scored 11 points and grabbed 8 rebounds in 14 minutes, Willis Reed of New York, who scored 10 points in 14 minutes, and Johnson, who led the team in rebounds with 10 and scored 13 points.

The West comeback in the second and third quarters was led by Wilt Chamberlain's rebounding and defensive play, and Elgin Baylor's inspired, energetic play and team-leading 21-points.

Wilt closed off the middle for the East at the start of the second quarter," Guerin said, "and Elgin Baylor never ceases to amaze me."

The West tied the score 61-61, and moved ahead in the third as the East scored only two baskets in a stretch of 10 minutes. But Reed and Unseld scored six and seven points, respectively, in the latter part of the third period, as the East moved ahead again, 86-83.

Johnson's driving lay-up made it 88-83 for the East before Elvin Hayes, the super-rookie from San Diego and his teammate Don Kojis led the West drive that recaptured the lead, each scoring two baskets.

The game was viewed by a sell-out Baltimore Civic Center crowd of 12,348, and a National Television audience (on ABC). To accomodate the television crew, 17 time outs were called.

"They called too many," said Robertson. "It hurt." But Guerin accepted the interruptions calmly.

"Television is very important to the game and the league," he said.

The West was weakened by the loss of guard Jerry West, who had to sit out the game with a pulled leg muscle.

The game could have been costly to host Baltimore team. Johnson suffered a sprained ankle in a violent tumble that could have broken his leg. And Monroe, whose ailing knees are going to send him to the hospital for four days, limped visibly after banging one of them.

Kings Feast on Rangers To Snap Winless Streak

By United Press International

The Los Angeles Kings must have listened to Jack Kent Cooke's warning. But the New York Rangers apparently didn't hear Boom Boom Geoffrion.

"Win the next three or else," Cooke told his Kings before leaving Los Angeles for the NBA All-Star game in Baltimore.

The Kings responded by edging New York 3-1 Tuesday night to snap a seven-game winless streak in the only National Hockey League game played.

The Rangers, who were told by coach Geoffrion "I'm getting sick and tired of this," failed to break out of their slump and remained just one game ahead of last place Detroit in the Eastern Division. Los Angeles moved into third place in the West with the win, one point ahead of third place Philadelphia.

Bill Flett scored two goals for Los Angeles, the second with 4:45 to go in the game to snap a 1-1 tie. Reg Fleming argued that Flett kicked in the winning goal and received a 10-minute misconduct penalty for protesting.

The Rangers' Rod Gilbert was injured in the game when he was hit in the face by Ron Anderson's stick. He suffered a scratch on his right eye and it wasn't determined how long he would be sidelined.

Kingston Skiers Slip by Liberty

WOODRIDGE — The first two skiers across the finish line represented Liberty High but Kingston High excelled in the runnerup slots to edge the Redskins 238.20 seconds to 288.70 in a dual slalom meet at Davos Big Vanilla.

It was the second victory in three starts for Coach Richard D. Schaefer's Maroons.

Dave Zamansky of Liberty outdistanced the field, leading teammate Gary Allees by more than four seconds, but Kingston swept the next four places and the seventh spot.

Craig Frost was the first Kingston skier across the line, in third place.

The 30-gate course was set by Dick Darnton, ski school director of Big Vanilla.

Liberty did not field a girls team but four Maroon lassies gave the course a try and were timed as follows: Terry Goffredi, 55.85; Sue Weber, 63.45; Nancy Potter, 65.05; Barbara Schneller, 73.60.

Harris Heads Democratic Party, Might Lead to White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fred Harris shouldered the dual burdens of U. S. senator and Democratic national chairman today and set out in pursuit of party strength, $9 million and—just possibly—a run at the White House.

The 38-year-old son of an Oklahoma sharecropper, who rose in four years to membership in the Senate Establishment, was unanimously elected party chairman Tuesday at a meeting of the national committee.

His selection to succeed the resigning Lawrence F. O'Brien had been a foregone conclusion since Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, as titular head of the party, publicly gave Harris his support over the weekend.

"We must have support from all representative groups of Americans," Harris told the committee. "That will be one of our first tasks—to meet our first test in the congressional elections of 1970."

"Look to the suburbs!" was O'Brien's departing advice. "That's where many of our Democrats have gone."

Humphrey urged the committee to press for massive electoral reforms and—with an obvious eye on the party's $9 million deficit— stressed revision of campaign spending laws.

He tabbed Harris a "young, promising" prospect for the 1972 presidential nomination—a possibility that could pit Humphrey against a man who was his Senate protege and co-captain of his unsuccessful 1968 campaign.

But before Harris can enter the list of candidates for the nomination he must complete successfully some formidable tasks.

Besides restoring the party to solvency, he must bring together the disperate wings most graphically represented in the streets of Chicago last August when Mayor Richard Daley's forces crashed head-on with Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's youthful legions of antiwar protesters.

And he must be careful in bearing his double burden to avoid the fate of the Republican party eight years ago when—with parttime co-chairmen from Congress—it drifted into 1964's disaster.

Although Harris will pick a fulltime executive director, both will need considerable energy to overcome Democratic vulnerability in 1970 when they have 25 Senate seats at stake and must protect their House majority.

Iraq Announces Peace Rejection

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iraq, which maintains 20,000 troops near the Jordanian-Israeli cease-fire line, announced over Baghdad Radio today its rejection of the U.N. Security Council resolution for a Middle East settlement.

The broadcast did not mention the new Soviet peace initiative, but it would follow that this also had been rejected by the Baghdad government.

Baghdad radio quoted Foreign Minister Abdel Karim al Shaikhaly as saying recognition of Israel was "contrary to what Iraq believes." Syria has taken a similar stand, contrary to that of Jordan and Egypt.

The 1967 U.N. resolution provides for the withdrawal of Israeli forces from territory occupied during the June war that year in return for Arab recognition of Israel's territorial integrity.

Iraq's foreign policy statement was broadcast 24 hours after a lengthy meeting between Shaikhaly and the Soviet ambassador in Baghdad, during which Russia's Middle East proposals presuumably were discussed.

Baghdad radio reported Shikhaly also expressed "reservations" about the Middle East peace mission of Swedish diplomat Gunnar V. Jarring. Jarring's mission sprang from the U.N. resolution, as do many provisions in the Soviet plan.

Shaikhaly charged the resolution "imposed on the victims of aggression conditions which were not imposed on the aggressor."

He said it sought to liquidate the Palestine question in return for territory occupied in 1967, and forcing the Arab states to make peace with Israel "does not conform to Arab security."

Shaikhaly added Iraq's rejection of the resolution would not affect its friendly relations with the Soviet Union which "has consantly emphasized its friendship for the Arabs."

However, Iraq's policy could have serious implications for Jordan in the event of a peace settlement.

Arab guerrillas in Jordan oppose any peace with Israel and have threatened to overthrow any government which agrees to a settlement. Iraq has now adopted a similar stand, and the guerrillas might feel they have the backing of Iraq's 20,000 troops in Jordan.

Plenty of Territory

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Congressman-elect Ed Foreman of Las Cruces said the New Mexico district he will represent is twice as large geographically as a West Texas district he served for one term in 1962.

Tab Hinchey Dem Head In Saugerties

SAUGERTIES — The Town of Saugerties Democratic Committee has elected Maurice Hinchey Jr., as town chairman to fill the vacancy created recently through the resignation of Frank Costello.

Young Hinchey's father, Maurice Hinchey Sr. held the party reins in 1965 when he was named town chairman upon the resignation of Kenneth Blundell.

The newly elected chairman received the unanimous endorsement of the committee. Hinchey's nomination was made by Robert Gardner and was seconded by Paul Brazier and A. Michael Schovel.

Upon accepting the chairmanship, Hinchey said it is an honor and a privilege to serve the Town of Saugerties Democratic Committee as its chairman." He said he would serve with the knowledge and duty of the faith, trust, responsibility and confidence which the committee has placed in him.

A nomination committee was also named to present a slate of candidates to the committee for the 1969 elections. Maurice Hinchey Sr. was made chairman.

Daniel Jones and Howard Wittenbecker were named co-chairmen of the fund-raising activities committee. Future social and family activities were discussed.

Dear Abby

Dad's All Mixed Up

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a father who encourages his 10-year-old daughter to give him long, hard kisses on the lips? If she gives him a little peck on the cheek he pulls her back and says, "What kind of kiss do you call THAT?"

I will be honest and admit that he gets very little affection from me. You see, Abby, I don't especially care for my husband. Ever since I married him I have had to help him make a living and I am sick and tired of it. But I still don't think there is any excuse for his acting that way with his own daughte,r do you?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Your husband should NOT be kissing his daughter in the manner you describe, no matter how little affection he gets from you. If you don't "especially care for him"—clear out and take your daughter with you. If you remain, you are encouraging a sick, sick situation.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: This is for the woman whose husband had not come near her in two years—since she'd had a hysterectomy. (She said he was the kind of man who went around their property, cutting down all the imperfectly formed trees.)

When I was a boy, I recall we had two apple trees. One was beautiful and perfectly formed, but it bore no fruit. The other bore fruit and showed it by its bent and broken limbs. Dad eventually cut down the beautiful but worthless one.

My wife bore me five beautiful children. Her breasts now droop and her belly shows not-so-lovely stria-gavida ("stretch marks") and plenty of them. But she will not be "cut down." She has born fruit, and to me hers is the most beautiful body on earth.

Sincerely,
An "M. D." in PASADENA, TEX.

DEAR DOCTOR: Please convey a message to your wife for me. Lady, you have a wonderful husband!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: You don't often pull a boner, but when you do it's a lulu. You mentioned the wives of a lot of men who had to get their hands dirty, among them were Thomas Edison, Charles Lindbergh, Walter P. Chrysler, and of all people THE WRIGHT BROTHERS. Abby, for your information, both the WRIGHT BROTHERS were bachelors!

Sincerely,
JACK H. in L. A.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SINGLE IN SAN ANTONIO:" I said (and I repeat) that children should be disciplined by their parents when they are guests in another's home. But if the parents sit by and say nothing when the child walks on the sofa, THEN the host should tell the child that floors are for walking on and sofas are for sititng on. And if that doesn't make an impression, I would demonstrate that bottoms are for paddling when children don't behave.

TEEN FORUM

MOTOR BLOCK: (Q.) My boy friend has a motor and he handles it very well. He even belongs to a motor club.

My parents won't let me go anywhere with him on the motor. They know he's good at it and takes it seriously, but they still say no.

His club has parties and the boys are supposed to bring their dates on a motor. What can I do?—Liz in Birmingham, Ala.

(A.) Your parents are not saying no just because they like to say no. They don't want you to get hurt. They know motorcycles or motorbikes can be dangerous even in the best of hands. And doubling up on one doubles the chances of someone getting hurt.

Look at it this way. Your parents are reasonable enough not to say you can't see your friend at all. So you should be reasonable in considering the one condition they put on your seeing him.

Perhaps you can limit your dates with him to non-motor events. If he agrees to this and sticks to it you'll know he's very fond of you.

BIG LITTLE GIFT: (Q.) I want to get my girl a ring for her birthday. We're in high school and have gone steady for a year and a half. I don't know whether to get her an engagement ring or a pre-engagement ring. And how much should I spend?—M. in Winston-Salem, N. C.

(A.) High school is too early for an engagement ring. A gold friendship ring or one of the very popular serpent rings would be more appropriate.

You can probably find a nice gold ring for about $30. But this is an awfully high price for a high-schooll boy's gift to a high-school girl.

There were plenty of chances for decision on today's no problems at first. Both passed.

East might also have passed or he might have opened with one heart. Instead he decided to make things difficult for the man with the spade suit and opened three hearts.

This bid didn't keep South form naming spades but it gave him a problem. Should he bid three or four spades? Finally South decided that he would be cold for four if his partner held trump support and a side trick, so South jumped to game.

West really did not have enough to go to five hearts after his partner's pre-empt but West was a pretty smart player and felt certain that a five-heart bid would not be doubled so he got into the act with five hearts.

Now North felt that he had so much strength that a five-spade bid was clearly indicated. He bid five spades and it was up to South to try to make it.

West opened the ace of hearts and continued the suit. South ruffed and drew trumps. Then he led the six of clubs!

The first few plays had been made rapidly and West's play of the eight of clubs came just as quickly.

The next play took a lot of time. South couldn't lose the hand if West held both the ace and queen, he couldn't make it if East held these cards. If they were divided, it was up to South to decide which player held which card. It is no problem for us. We see the cards, but it was quite a problem for South.

As a matter of fact he studied so long that we went away and still don't know if he guessed right or wrong!

ABC Scheduling Smart Plan

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The concept of a television magazine-of-the-air got another boost Monday night when ABC-TV wiped out its regular prime time schedule and presented four colorful documentaries. They were not jointly billed as a video magazine, but they amounted, in sum, to precisely that, and were a very special parlay.

Only last week, NBC-TV offered the debut of a magazine-style series, "First Tuesday," a collection of news features. Before that, it was CBS-TV with a similar series, "60 Minutes," and National Educational Television with the "Public Broadcast Laboratory." Monday night's ABC-TV collection included another undersea adventure with Jacques Cousteau, a study of child adoption, a profile of champion skier Jean-Claude Killy and an examination of urban problems, "Cosmopolis."

Rough Competition

For all practical purposes, it was extremely smart scheduling for ABC-TV, for the network's ratings are a particular washout anyway on Mondays. The NBC-TV competition is very rough with "I Dream of Jeannie," "Laugh-in" and a movie. And the CBS-TV competition is the most successful ratings lineup on video: "Gunsmoke," "Here's Lucy," "Mayberry R.F.D.," "Family Affair" and Carol Burnett. ABC-TV's lineup, eliminated Monday, is "The Avengers," "Peyton place," "The Outcasts" and "The Big Valley."

The most significant documentary of those that replaced the regular shows Monday night was "Cosmopolis," producad by John Secondari and Helen Jean Rogers. Surveying a number of cities here and abroad, the broadcast outlined many of the problems we already are aware of—but, more interestingly, also focused on numerous plans to make urban and suburban life more fulfilling in the future. Regional planning was strongly advocated, and some towns that have already been carefully created were shown

The fifth program in the occasional series entitled "The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau" was seemingly, at first, merely a light tale about the befriending of two seals by the crew of the oceanographer's scientifically-oriented ship. But as the hour passed, the training of the seals—and the growing trust and relationship between them and their keepers—made for fascinating viewing, especially their useful mutual friendliness in adventures in the depths of the sea.

Theme Breaks Through

The Killy documentary was, at times, on the border of a fan piece. But, after a while, the legitimate theme of a man who has reached the top in his own field—and is looking for new challenges—also held the viewer's interest, reasonably if not too passionately. His slight discomfort at the odd nature of Hollywood had a ring of truth to it, and somehow one was relieved to see him decide that the town's opportunities were not, at this point, for him.

To Love a Child," adoption tale, concerned the way a young couple went about getting a baby from an agency. This kind of story always has its moments, and although television has done it better—and more fully—before, one could not help being touched by the couple's concern. Program, alas, was only 30 minutes in length—too short, by far, for the subject at hand.

JOHNSON MAKING A POINT (UPI TELEPHOTO))

LBJ Finale: Extend the 'Society'

By MIKE FEINSILBER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—"Let us continue," Lyndon B. Johnson begged a grieving nation in his first presidential appearance before Congress in the sad November of 1963. The failure to continue his programs, he said in his final appearance as President, would bring "tragedy for our nation."

A tired Commander in Chief in his last days in office—sadder "more than any of you know" that peace evaded his presidency—won from Congress Tuesday night the affection and cheers that had evaded him in his last years in office.

Almost powerless now, he asked Congress to extend his great society—referring to it by name for the first time in many months—more for model cities, more for housing, medical care for the young, more for job training, 13 per cent more for those on Social Security pensions.

And he asked a joint session of Congress to extend its hand to his successor, Richard M. Nixon. "President-elect Nixon will need your understanding, just as I did," he said. "He is entitled to have it."

Surtax Extension

With the concurrence of Nixon, he asked Congress to extend beyond its June 30 expiration date the 10 per cent income tax surcharge which will raise $15 billion a year.

With it, he said, the budget for the current fiscal year will show a $2.4 billion surplus—the first surplus in nine years—rather than the $8 billion deficit he had foreseen a year ago. The budget for the next fiscal year, starting July 1, will have a $3.4 billion surplus, he said.

Republicans quarrelled with that arithmetic. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., called Johnson's projected surpluses "A manipulation of figures." Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, called them "misleading."

Johnson spelled out his computations in the federal budget for the next fiscal year which he sent to Capitol Hill at noon today. Inevitably, it will do much to shape the first fiscal year of the Nixon presidency.

Despite their fiscal quibbling, Republicans generally joined the Democrats in a whistling, foot-stomping salute to the President, who broke with tradition in returning to Capitol Hill to deliver his final State of the Union address. It was perhaps the warmest and noisiest tribute he'd ever received from Congress.

The President — sometimes proud in tone, sometimes defensive—outlined his domestic program and declared:

"The very existence of those commitments—those promises to the American people is a kind of reality itself. Breaking those promises would be a tragedy for our country."

He said he wished he could report the restoration of peace.

"I regret—more than any of you know—that it has not yet been possible to restore peace to South Vietnam.

"The prospects for peace are better today than at any time since North Vietnam began its invasion with its regular forces more than four years ago."

He emphasized that the problems he bequeathed Nixon were inherited from John F. Kennedy and his predecessors, and that the commitments he had made were the product of "no man or group of men . . . alone. Congress and the executive branch wrote them into law."

Vietnam Policy

In Vietnam, he said, "the free nations of Asia know now what they were not sure of . . . that they cannot achieve their aggressive purposes by force."

Fifty-two times during the 45-minute address, the President was interrupted by applause—once when he announced he was recommending a $12,500 pay raise for members of congress, who now receive $30,000 a year. Unless vetoed by congress, the pay raise would automatically go into law under legislation previously approved by congress.

From the executive gallery, Mrs. Johnson watched him. She has seen nearly every State of the Union message delivered by Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson.

"I was moved," said Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who had held his post for eight years.

"It was Lyndon Johnson's finest hour," said Rep. F. Bradford Morse, R-Mass.

Budget Highlights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Highlights of President Johnson's budget proposals for the 1970 fiscal year beginning next July 1:

Income taxes: proposed one-year extension of 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporation income taxes, now due to expire June 30. Also asked power for incoming President Richard M. Nixon to reduce or eliminate the special tax if Vietnam peace should substantially reduce military costs.

Payroll taxes: Proposed a $1.7 billion increase, effective next Jan. 1, to finance higher Social Security benefits. Tax rate would go from 4.8 to 5.2 per cent on both employers and employes, and amount of income subject to tax would increase from $7,800 to $9,000 a year. Effect on persons earning $9,000 or over would be to increase payroll deductions from $374.40 this year to $468 next year.

Revenues: Would rise to $198.7 billion if Congress approves all of his tax proposals, which represent $11.9 in additional revenue.

Spending: Estimated at $195.3 billion, an increase of $11.6 billion over current year and the highest spending figure in history. However, the rate of spending increase, about 6 per cent, would be less than the increase in the nation's output of goods and services, which amounted to about 9 per cent over past year.

Surplus or deficit: A government surplus of $3.4 billion is envisioned if Congress approves all his tax proposals. Without them, there would be a deficit of $8.5 billion.

Vietnam: Expected deescalation of Vietnam War reflected in budget forecast that war costs will decline from $28.8 billion in current fiscal year to $25.4 billion in the 12 months beginning July 1.

Draft: Renewed his plea, spurned by Congress last year, for a "fair" Selective Service law under which young men would be chosen for the draft by a random lottery procedure.

Defense: Outlay of $81.5 billion, up $500 million from current year, comprises 41 per cent of total budget.

Space: Spending pegged at $3.9 billion, down $300 million from current year. Budget provides funds to prepare for further manned exploration of moon after the first Apollo landing scheduled this year.

Social Security: Recommended 13 per cent overall increase in Social Security benefits effective next Jan. 1, with a 45 per cent boost for the 2 million aged now receiving the minimum benefit of $80 a month.

Postal: Proposed the abolition of air mail rates, with a one-cent increase in rate for first class mail, most of which now moves by air anyway.

Cities: Urged establishment of a government-assisted "urban development bank" to help meet financial needs of cities. Also sought $750 million for continuation of "model cities" program in fiscal 1970.

Crime: Recommended outlay of $206 million, an increase of $165 million, to help cities and states fight crime. Said Congress as "urgent next step" should provide for federal registration and licensing of guns.

Housing: Federal outlays would rise $459 million to $2.8 billion, with most of increase going into more housing for low and middle income families.

Civil rights: Justice Department's Civil Rights Division would get an increase of $24 million (to a total of $110 million) to step up attack on job and school discrimination in northern cities, and expand Negro voter registration surveillance in south.

Farm: Outlay of $5.1 billion down $267 million, projected for price supports and other aids to farmers.

Foreign aid: Requested $2 billion, down $120 million from current year and lowest figure since aid program launched after World War II. Nearly one fourth of total earmarked for reconstruction in Vietnam.

Education: Total outlay of $5.3 billion, up $459 million. He noted that federal government, once a minor factor in school finance, would be paying about 14 per cent of nation's total educational costs in coming fiscal year, and providing 23 per cent of all funds expended on college and university education.
